BIG OIL REFINERY FIRE AT LONG BEACH!

SHENANDOAH LEAVES ON ITS TRIP TO TEXAS

Big Dirigible Puts Off From San Diego on Homeward Journey

BULLETIN

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 22.—The dirigible Shenandoah passed over Jacumba Hot Springs, Cal., ninety-two miles east of San Diego, on its homeward trip at 1:20 p. m., according to the Southern Pacific railroad.

SAN DIEGO, Oct. 22.—Sparkling in the sunlight like a huge silver lead pencil sharpened at both ends, the navy's rigid dirigible Shenandoah pushed off from its mooring mast here at 11:30 a. m. today and headed for Fort Worth, Texas, its next stopping place on the return trip to Lakehurst, N. J., "home" of the giant aircraft.

A heavy fog, thicker and colder than the one of yesterday, which forced the Shenandoah to remain aloft several hours after its arrival from Camp Lewis, Wash., before coming to its mast here, delayed the ship's take-off this morning.

During the night new supplies of gasoline, oil, helium gas, water and food were taken aboard, and everything was in readiness for an early start, but the presence of the fog bank caused the delay.

Course Undecided

Even after the sun broke through the shroud of mist the Shenandoah was forced to wait until the sun had heated the helium gas it carries before cutting away from its mast.

Just what course the Shenandoah will select on the jump to Fort Worth had not been definitely decided when it left. However, it was thought it would take the same route as it did on the trip west ten days ago.

La Follette Promises To Smash 'Hierarchy'

PEORIA, Ill., Oct. 22.—Urging American labor to elect the Progressive ticket "in order to receive a fair deal from the government," Senator Robert M. La Follette, international presidential candidate, came up to Peoria today to wind up his short speaking campaign in Illinois. If elected La Follette promises to smash "the economic hierarchy which now runs the government." He repeated his charges that both old line parties are dominated by Wall street and said even now the government is waging a "bloodless but devastating war on its own people."

Thirteen Near Death In Bomb Crash Near Flats

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 22.—Thirteen persons escaped death here today when a bomb exploded in the entrance of three flats. The bomb, left in the vestibule of the building in a suitcase, was believed by police to have been deposited by blackhanders.

Bank Cashier Forced to Open Vault by Bandits

GREENSBURG, Pa., Oct. 22.—Two bandits held up F. J. Sutton, cashier of the Citizens' National bank, at Bolivar, Pa., as he opened the bank this morning and forced him to open the vault at the point of revolvers, escaping with more than $4000 in cash.

Six Dirigibles Are Being Constructed At Akron Factory

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—The Goodyear Co., of Akron, Ohio, has under construction six dirigibles, the largest with a gas capacity of 719,000 cubic feet, it was announced here this afternoon by J. M. Yilton, Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. engineer, upon his arrival from Europe.

Abroad he supervised part of the construction of the ZR-3. Plans are being formulated, Yilton said, for construction of a dirigible with 5,000,000 cubic feet of gas capacity—twice that of the ZR-3.

America's new dirigible, The Los Angeles will undergo its official inspection preparatory to be taken over by the United States next Friday at Lakehurst, N. J. Arrangements were made today at a conference between Dr. Hugo Eckener, his American agent and Secretary of the Navy Wilbur at Washington.

The board of inspection will include Rear-Admiral G. H. Burrage and Captain J. G. Tawrescy and I. E. Bass.

DEFENSE FOR OIL LEASE OUTLINED

Doheny Attorneys Declare Navy Officials Sought To Drive Bargain

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 22—Winding up his resume of facts with which the defense attorneys hope to prevent the United States attorneys office from canceling valuable oil leases granted to E. L. Doheny and his interests on naval ail reserve lands in the Elk Hills district, by a direct charge that navy officials drove a hard bargain with the Los Angeles millionaire when the contracts were issued, Attorney Frank J. Hogan paved the way for the introduction of witnesses today.

Hogan, who is senior counsel for the battery of legal talent employed by Doheny, his son, E. L. Doheny, Jr., and his two oil companies, the Pan-American Petroleum and Transport Co., and the Pan American Petroleum Co., had occupied the limelight in the Elk Hills suit since yesterday afternoon.

'Bargain Driver'

During the time he was outlining the plans of the defense, he talked at great length on the conditions brought about by the granting of the leases to the Doheny interests.

"If there ever was a bargain driver for the government," he said repeatedly, "it was Admiral Robison."

Hogan referred to Admiral J. K. Robison, chief of the engineering bureau of the navy department, who was declared by Attorney Owen J. Roberts of the prosecution, to have been a "life long friend of Doheny," and "made it possible for Doheny to obtain rights to the Elk Hills reserve."

Robison arrived in Los Angeles today prepared to take the stand, having been summoned to Los Angeles by the federal attorneys. He will also be called as a witness for the defense, it was indicated.

CLAIM SMUGGLING

SEATTLE, Oct. 22.—Six Chinese and one white man were captured this morning by a picket boat of the United States coast guard near Port Townsend as the Chinese were about to be smuggled into American territory from Canada, according to wireless reports from the coast guard cutter Arcata.

EX-LEADER OF LEGION BULLET'S VICTIM

Assailant Accuses Hero In World War of Having 'Broken Up Home'

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Oct. 22.—Colonel John G. Emery, past national commander of the American Legion, world war hero and former candidate for United States senator, was shot in the left arm today by Seyden Simpson, husband of one of Emery's stenographers. Emery was taken to the hospital and will recover.

On his way to jail, Simpson, who is 40 years old, declared: "I wish I had killed him."

The chief of police turned the lock on Simpson and went out to lunch without further questioning of his prisoner. Mrs. Simpson is said to be beautiful.

Quarrel Over Woman

The shooting occurred in Emery's real estate office following an altercation with Simpson. Mrs. Simpson had begun action to obtain a divorce and the argument between her husband and Emery arose from this.

The bullet pierced Colonel Emery's left arm just below the shoulder, missing the bone, it was reported.

Simpson was being grilled this afternoon by Police Superintendent Carroll.

According to office employes, Simpson entered the real estate office, asked if his wife was employed there, and when answered in the affirmative, opened fire on Emery.

'Broke Up Home'

Simpson's first shot went wild but the second lodged in Emery's shoulder.

"You broke up my home," shouted Simpson as he opened fire, it was said.

Colonel Emery later declared he knew of no reason why Simpson should shoot him.

Mrs. Simpson has worked in Emery's office about three weeks. She is 28. Her employment followed her response to an advertisement for a stenographer which Colonel Emery ran in the papers.

Simpson is a salesman for the Chicago Electric Co. The couple's home is in Grand Rapids, Mich.

Colonel Emery is married and has two young daughters. In her petition for divorce, Mrs. Simpson charges extreme cruelty. She declares her husband was so addicted to the use of intoxicants that she came to fear for her personal safety and on October 17 last she left him.

Tear Gas Routs Mob In Ku Klux Demonstration

DETROIT, Oct. 22.—Several thousand persons were routed by police armed with tear gas last night when they strove to break up an anti-Ku Klux Klan meeting. No arrests were made. The disturbers paraded up and down in front of the anti-Klan meeting place, cheering for Charles Bowles, endorsed for mayor by the K. K. K. Cars bearing Bowles stickers passed by in endless streams. Drivers blew their horns incessantly and the riders yelled to add to the din.

Inside the hall several hundred in the audience at a given signal rose and walked out, turning to jeer over their shoulders at those who remained. Aldrich Blake, executive counsellor of former Governor J. C. Walton, of Oklahoma, was the principal speaker at the anti-Klan meeting.

Suspect Released In Woman Murder Case

SAN DIEGO, Oct. 22.—Steven Richards, held in jail here since Friday night when he reported to the police the finding of the dead body of Mrs. Anna Lillian Williams, his sweetheart, strangled to death, was set free today, following a coroner's jury verdict late yesterday which failed to fix blame for the mystery murder. Police engaged today in running down "loose ends" of the case, but were no nearer its solution than when the murder was discovered.

IOWA BANK CLOSES

DES MOINES, Iowa, Oct. 22.—Notice posted on the doors of the United States bank of this city today that a threatend run made closing necessary, informed customers that the bank had suspended.

Soviet Russia Funds Aid LaFollette Fight, Charged At Inquiry

By H. K. REYNOLDS
For International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—Chairman T. V. O'Connor of the United States shipping board expressed the belief this afternoon before the Borah investigating committee that funds from soviet Russia were being received in the United States to aid the presidential candidacy of Robert M. La Follette.

O'Connor refused, however, to make any direct charge or allegation to this effect and, under questioning by Senator Borah, said he had no actual evidence of the sending of money from Russia to this country.

"I believe it," he declared, "although I cannot prove it."

O'Connor had discussed this situation in a recent speech in Buffalo, N. Y., but denied he made the charges in the speech that La Follette had refused funds from Moscow.

Advances Money

In connection with the visit of a hundred or more "labor leaders" to the White House on Labor day with him at their head, O'Connor admitted that he advanced "about $358" to Joseph Ryan, president of the International Longshoremen's union, to pay railroad fares and hotel bills for these men, but said that the money had been repaid to him.

O'Connor was formerly the head of the Longshoremen's union, holding this position until he became a member of the United States shipping board.

Just before O'Connor took the stand, Chairman Borah announced that subpoenas had been issued for William B. Knox, president of the American Bankers' association; George W. Simmons, vice-president of the Mechanics and and Charles D. Hilles, vice-chairman of the Republican National bank, New York, and Charles D. Hilles, vice-chairman of the Republican National committee of New York.

Pennsylvania Fund

In addition, Frank P. Walsh and Samuel Untermeyer, attorneys for Senator La Follette, told Borah they wanted William M. Butler, chairman of the Republican national committee, and Hodges recalled for further questioning.

The campaign fund collected by Pennsylvania Republicans outside of the "Pittsburgh district" totals $365,000, Joseph R. Grundy of Bristol, Pa., this afternoon told the Borah investigating committee.

Grundy is the chairman of the ways and means committee of the Pennsylvania Republican state committee and was the man named by Senator Robert M. La Follette as collector of the "slush fund" which the Wisconsin senator said was being raised to "buy the election" in closely contested territory.

That amount, Grundy said, includes all the money collected for the Republican fund in Pennsylvania except the collections in the Pittsburgh district.

CHURCH ELECTION

CHICAGO, Oct. 22.—Dr. F. H. Knubel today was unanimously re-elected president of the United Lutheran church in America, and E. Clarence Miller, Philadelphia, chosen for the fourth time to act as treasurer of the organization at the election held at the annual convention in session here.

DECISION IN 35 MILLION TAX CASE SECRET

Attorney General's Verdict Reached But Contents Not Yet Disclosed

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—The decision of Attorney-General Stone in the California community property case was delivered to the office of Secretary of the Treasury Mellon today where it was stated that the contents would not be disclosed for several days.

Secretary Mellon is in New York and probably will not make a study of the decision until tomorrow. He will then refer it to experts for action.

If the ruling favors California, the government will be required to refund about $35,000,000 on income tax returns since 1918 and to deduct about $5,000,000 annually from probably about 300,000 California returns.

Recalls Decision

Former Attorney Daugherty rendered a decision in the case in favor of the taxpayers. When Attorney General Stone took office he recalled the Daugherty decision for a further investigation of the facts. In case Stone upheld the Daugherty decision, it was intimated that the government would institute a suit in federal court in an effort to avoid the tax reduction. On the other hand if the ruling is in favor of the government, California taxpayers are likewise expected to go into federal court.

Internal revenue bureau officials said that neraly three-fourths of the California income tax returns, or approximately 300,000 are involved. California is the sixth largest tax paying state, during the fiscal year of 1924, having turned over $92,410,441 to the government.

Question Involved

Eight states have community property, Arizona, California, Idaho, Louisiana, Nevada, New Mexico, Texas and Washington. The federal government recognizes the laws of all but California where confusion has existed in state court decisions in interpreting the act.

The case involves the right of husband and wife to divide their

REPORT FIVE THOUSAND TROOPS KILLED

LONDON, Oct. 22.—Five thousand Chihli troops (Chinese) were killed when they were lured over parade grounds where bombs were exploded, said a Mukden despatch to the Evening News this afternoon. The casualties took place during a meneuver of 15,000 Manchurian troops.

OLD HOME OF MARK TWAIN RAZED BY FIRE

RENO, Nev., Oct. 22.—Destroyed by fire, the old Schintzer house, said to have at one time been the house of Mark Twain, was in ruins here today. The structure, recently known as "Motor Inn" and notorious as a lively roadhouse patronized by members of Reno's divorce colony, was occupied by Mark Twain when the famous humorist was a reporter on a newspaper published in Virginia city, Nev. Twenty years ago the house was moved from Virginia City.

ALLEGED 'DIPLOMA MILL' EVIDENCE GIVEN

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 22.—First direct evidence as to operations of medical "diploma mills" in California was introduced before the board of medical examiners here today. Dr. Charles Fenner, osteopathic physician of Sacramento, testified he purchased his medical degree from Dr. Frank P. Young, head of the Pacific Medical college of Los Angeles. Fenner said he paid $100 for his degree. Dr. Fenner stated under cross-examination that he did not attend the Pacific Medical college or any other institution to obtain a certificate, but said he "took a half hour examination."

POLICE CHIEF WINNER IN DAMAGE ACTION

$20,000 Suit Is Dismissed Against Col. J. D. Fraser; Complete Exoneration

The $20,000 civil damage suit brought by B. R. Sims, former private patrol operator, against Chief John D. Fraser of the Glendale police department, was dismissed yesterday afternoon from Department 5 of the Los Angeles superior court by Judge Harry A. Hollzer, at the request of Judge R. T. Lightfoot, leading counsel for the plaintiff, and before the defense had produced a single witness.

"I have been practicing law too long not to know when I am licked," said Judge Lightfoot, "and I therefore ask for dismissal of suits and for a non-suit."

Chief Fraser was defended by Mattison B. Jones of Glendale, Lee Utley assisted Judge Lightfoot in representing Mr. Sims.

Files Two Suits

Two suits were brought, each asking $10,000 damages; the one for malicious prosecution, based on the arrest of the plaintiff August 1, 1923, on a complaint sworn to by Chief Fraser for conducting a private police patrol system in Glendale at that time without a license; the other for personal damages to the plaintiff, growing out of allegations that Chief Fraser had destroyed his business, out of which he declared he was making $400 a month.

Both actions were consolidated and tried before Judge Hollzer according to Mattison B. Jones, who states that Chief Fraser admitted the arrest of Sims in his answers to the charges but declared the arrest was made not through malice but solely because the plaintiff had on July 19, 1923, given his personal check to the city clerk for $15 to cover his license fee from July 1 to October 1 of that year, which check was returned to the city treasurer marked "not sufficient funds," that the city of Glendale never received this $15, and that Sims on August 1, 1923, requested the City Council to revoke his permit.

Complete Exoneration

"During nearly twenty-five years of experience as a trial lawyer in the various courts, I have never engaged in any case where my client reecived at the hands of the attorneys of the other side a more complete exoneration from each and every charge against him that did Chief John D. Fraser of the Glendale police department from the unfounded charges brought by B. R. Sims," said Mattison B. Jones, commenting on the outcome of this suit.

"It was more to the credit of Chief Fraser than if we had put on our defense and the judge had rendered judgment in our favor. It is a great pity that people can file in a court of justice such unfounded charges and therefore compel a man of Chief Fraser's standing to expend time, energy and money to defend himself."

Canada, U. S. Agree to Protect Halibut Fish

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—Agreement to protect the halibut fisheries of the north Pacific, signed at Washington March 2, 1923, by Canada and the United States, went into effect today, following the exchange of ratifications between Secretary of State Hughes and the Hon. Ernest La Pointe, minister of justice of Canada. By this convention a closed season of the halibut fisheries is established from November 16 to February 15 of each year and the United States and Canada agree to provide penalties for violations.

Inquest Held In Death Of Woman on Train

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 22.—Preparations were made today for the shipment of the body of Mrs. Rose Bailey to the family home in Shelton, Neb., after an inquest has been held into the circumstances surrounding her death. Mrs. Bailey was injured on a railroad train Sunday night as she was nearing Los Angeles, when David M. Carlton, 84, a Civil war veteran, suffered a mental attack, and ran amuck.

ELECTION RULING

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—Officers of the reserve corps, U. S. A., are not eligible to serve as presidential electors in a political campaign, according to an opinion rendered today by the judge advocate-general of the army.

Police Dog Goes Mad While In Auto And Attacks Owner

A German police dog belonging to Walter L. Sorenson, Napa county representative of the California State Automobile association, this morning bit Mr. Sorenson as he and the animal were riding in an automobile near the residence of J. R. Thorpe, at the corner of Ocean View avenue and Waltona drive, Montrose.

The animal leaped from the car and hid in Mr. Thorpe's saddle stables, but was cornered. Dr. J. Whytock, a Glendale veterinarian, was sent for and after an examination pronounced the dog under suspicion of having rabies. The animal was taken to Pasadena and placed under surveillance. Mr. Sorenson was treated by a Pasadena physician and will probably be given the Pasteur treatment, Mr. Thorpe states.

FINANCING OF NEW HOTEL COMPLETE

C. W. Ingledue Says All Money Available, Work Steadily Advances

The footings are nearly all in and the forms of the $500,000 six-story Hotel Glendale, Inc., are ready to receive the concrete up to the first floor, reports C. W. Ingledue of 109 [illegible]th Glendale avenue, president of the corporation.

Motorists and pedestrians passing the northeast corner of Glendale avenue and East Broadway have seen the steel reinforcements rising above the high board fence that surrounds the property and have wondered what progress was being made by Kinne & Westerhouse, the contractors. This is their answer, he states.

Fully Financed

"We want the people of Glendale to know this project is fully financed and going ahead at a rapid rate," says Mr. Ingledue. "The bonds are sold and the money is available. The contractors have assured me they will have the building under roof by Christmas. Their contract calls for its completion by April 1, 1925, but it will in all probability be finished before then.

"This hotel will contain 162 rooms and in addition two dining rooms, a spacious social room for pool, billiards and other games. It will be equipped and furnished in a high class manner throughout and will be of modern, class A construction, provided with two elevators. There will be a luxurious lobby entered from the corner, which is the most valuable street frontage of the property and would easily have brought $500 a month rent.

Elaborate Finish

"This entrance will be finished in tile floors and marble wainscoting. The exterior finish of the entire structure will be face brick with ornamental facades. This hotel is being erected as a monument to the enterprise and progress of East Glendale and will be of the very highest type."

The officers and directors of the Hotel Glendale, Inc., are as follows: C. W. Ingledue, president; Mrs. M. L. Tight, vice president; T. H. Menk, secretary; S. C. Kinch, C. F. Stuart, Dr. Henry R. Harrower and R. E. Spicer.

FLYERS TO HOP OFF

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 22.—America's round the world flyers, on their way to San Diego from Seattle, were scheduled to hop off from here today. Their next stop will be San Francisco.

BIG PLANTS THREATENED AS FLAMES SPREAD

One of Richest Sections In Signal Hill District Is Conflagration Scene

LONG BEACH, Oct. 22.—Fire of unknown origin broke out today in the gasoline plant of the Pan-American refinery at Long Beach, menacing one of the richest sections of the big Signal Hill oil field and threatened to destroy the $1,000,000 plant of the Shell Oil Co., directly opposite the blazing refinery.

An explosion in the absorption plant of the refinery marked the outbreak of the conflagration. A number of men working in the plant were blown to the floor and one of them, Harry Perry, a pump tender, was stunned by the blow.

Badly Bruised

His clothing ignited and burned completely away before his fellow workmen succeeded in dragging him from the blazing plant. He was rushed to a hospital where it was said he had slight chance of recovery.

The flames spread to the cooling towers of the refinery within a few minutes and before an organized effort could be made to combat the flames, both structures were a total loss.

The fire then spread to reservoirs about the base of three 20,000 gallon tanks of gasoline and threatened to sweep into the Shell Oil Co. refinery across the street and the plant of the General Petroleum Co. a block away.

Seek Assistance

The chemicals were forced over the flaming pools of gasoline surrounding the tanks but apparently the efforts of the fire fighters were unavailing.

Frantic calls were dispatched to Los Angeles for asistance in fighting the flames and arrangements were being made here to dispatch several tank cars, filled with chemicals by special train to the scene of the blaze.

By noon today the flames had been partially subdued. Corps of fighters, recruited from Long Beach and surrounding cities, succeeded in confining the conflagration to the Pan-American Refinery. The loss to this plant was estimated at between $75,000 and $100,000. Experts in combatting oil fire contend that unless a high wind springs up, the fire will be extinguished before night.

Outside Solicitation Quashed by Chamber

Solicitations committee of the Chamber of Commerce met at luncheon yesterday noon at the Alley Inn and considered several applications for permits to solicit advertising in Glendale. Two members of the Chamber of Commerce, two from the Merchants' association and two from the Advertising club were present. Four requests for permits were refused. Of these, two were reported as schemes promoted by Los Angeles men, one of which would have taken $1000 out of Glendale and the other $1200.

It also was decided to issue to each merchant a card on which will be printed a statement that solicitors will not be given a hearing unless presenting a card of endorsement from the Chamber of Commerce or solicitations committee.

START LIQUOR PROBE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—While refusing to discuss reports of an alleged notorious plot between police and bootleggers to flood San Francisco with illicit liquor, officials of the bureau of internal revenue today admitted that a searching investigation of the scandal was under way.

General Wood Caught In Mob Of Rioters

MANILA, Oct. 22.—Rioting between Filipinos and Chinese continued here tonight, Filipinos parading the streets and looting Chinese stores. Large detachments of armed police were called out to quell the rioters. Automobiles carrying Governor Leonard Wood and Manuel Roxas, speaker of the Filipino House of Representatives, were caught in the center of a mob of rioters, but they escaped without injury after police beat away the battling Chinese and Filipinos. All Chinese stores in the city are now closed, and this will bring about normal conditions, it is believed, as the Chinese are the sole purveyors of food here. It is a Filipino custom to buy only food ahead for one meal, and rioting is expected to stop as soon as food supplies are exhausted. Inter-island shipping has been suspended, due to a lack of Chinese laborers to load vessels.

Germans Silent While French Evacuate Ruhr

DORTMUND, Germany, Oct. 22.—Evacuation of the Ruhr by French troops got under way in earnest today when they departed from the city of Dortmund. French and German flags were flown when the French garrison forces began leaving at 10 o'clock. There was neither cheering nor hissing. Dortmund is an important railway, mining and industrial city on the northeast corner of the Ruhr. German residents, massed to see the departure of the former foes, maintained complete silence as the troops paraded from their barracks through the streets of the quiet little city to the railroad station. There was no hissing, no untoward demonstrations. French and Belgian civilians bared their heads as the colors of the armies of occupation passed, but the Germans remained stolidly inactive. Immediately after the French had left their headquarters, a German cafe owner whose business place had been used as part of the headquarters, raised again the sign famous before the dark days of the war, reading: "Beer and frankfurters for sale here."

WALL STREET BETS 5-1 ON 'CAL'

New York's Favoritc Election Pastime Brings Forth Freak Wagers

By ROBERT T. SMALL
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—Betting on the election is one of New York's greatest indoor sports and just now it is rising to flood tide. New York also is supposed to make the odds for the rest of the country to follow. It is all because there are in the Wall Street district a number of "commissioners" or brokerage concerns which make betting and stakeholding a regular business. A man of sporting proclivities will place a "block" of money with his broker just as he would a block of stock. He offers the money when the "market" reaches a certain figure, just as he offers the stock when the ticker reaches a given point.

Betting odds do not decide an election. If they did there would scarcely be any use for the voters to go to the polls on November 4. The money district is all Republican—except on the possible re-election of Al Smith as governor of New York. He is the only Democrat who carries odds in his favor.

Coolidge Odds 5-1

The prevailing odds on the re-election of President Coolidge range between 4 and 5 to 1. A few wagers have been recorded at 6 to 1. Wagers have been made at "even money" that no one can name three states La Follette will carry. The La Follette takers have named Wisconsin, North Dakota and Montana as the states he will sweep.

All sorts of "freak" bets are being recorded. The freaks are coming to the surface because there is very little fun expected in giving or taking odds of 5 to 1 on the straight result. Some bettors are willing to take a chance that La Follette gets a bigger popular vote than John W. Davis. Most of those so inclined want to confine the count to states outside the "solid south." One enthusiastic, but black-hearted Republican is willing to bet $3000 to $10,000 that La Follette will get more votes in greater New York than Davis. Evidently he believes Tammany will trade the national ticket for state ballots just as it was widely suspected of doing in 1920.

Persons willing to bet 7 to 5 that Al Smith will be re-elected also are willing to wager even money that Coolidge wins the Empire state by 600,000.

Wall Street Not Sure

Wall Street and its bettors occasionally have been caught badly "out of line." They will never forget the "trimming" they received when James W. Wadsworth, Jr., first was elected to the United States senate in 1914. He was running against James W. Gerard and Wall Street felt "sorry" for the young upstater. Wall Street offered 2 to 1 against him. James W. Wadsworth, Sr., an old time politician, an owner of fast horses and an all around sport, heard of the odds and he hopped a fast train in Genesee for the metropolis. He began taking all the 2 to 1 money in sight. His backing of his son was so strong that the odds dropped to 4 to 3 and then to even money. It is the legend of the Street that the elder Wadsworth cleaned up at least $50,000 when the votes were counted.

No one ever knows just how much money changes hands on an election down Wall street way. The brokerage houses are not loath to have publicity, but sometimes the bettors prefer private transactions. One firm this fall says it has placed thus far about $175,000. The briskest betting comes just before election day for most of the "wise men of the east" like to know everything that may happen before placing their money.

'Barber of Seville' to Be First Opera Recital

Madame Gloria Bretherton, who is to have charge of the opera recitals, included in the year's program of the Music department of the Tuesday Afternoon club, announced she will be assisted in the first recital, Friday afternoon, by Gilman Williams, baritone. Mary Parker Lawrence will be accompanist. Rossini's opera "The Barber of Seville" will be presented. Mrs. Roberta T. Young, curator of the department, said the program is open to all members.

Peanut Machine Stolen From Glendale Corner

A peanut machine was stolen last night from the southwest corner of Glendale and Wilson avenues, it was reported to the Glendale police department today.

Special Correspondence

Space in this column is donated by the editor of The Glendale Evening News for use by the Glendale Coolidge club, 220 South Brand boulevard, to promote the election of Calvin Coolidge, president, and Charles G. Dawes, vice president, at the election November 4, 1924. This generous courtesy is deeply appreciated by the Glendale Coolidge club.

Campaign literature, buttons, Coolidge and Dawes portraits, windshield stickers, etc., may be obtained at Republican headquarters, 220 South Brand boulevard, where visitors are always welcome. Mrs. E. W. Hayward is in charge.

Preamble of the Constitution of the United States.

"We, the people of the United States, in order to form a more perfect union, establish justice, insure domestic tranquility, provide for the common defense, promote the general welfare, and secure the blessings of liberty, to ourselves and our posterity, do ordain and establish this Constitution for the United States of America."

Pressed for time, the Coolidge caravan from New England was unable to stop in Glendale last night, although met at Newhall by a delegation from the Glendale Coolidge club. However, the Glendale Union High school boys' band gave several numbers and brief talks were made by speakers. The Coolidge club regrets exceedingly the fact that the caravan was unable to stop here.

Radio fans in Southern California will hear the voice of President Coolidge next Thursday night in an address to be delivered over the radio from his offices in Washington. It is believed that the president will have the largest audience on record, since millions of people will hear his speech.

Arrangements have been completed whereby the president will talk by long distance telephone to fifteen select radio stations located in various parts of the country. These stations, in turn, will connect with the long distance telephone so that the president's voice will be heard throughout the territory which they serve.

In Los Angeles the address will be transmitted over the Times station, KHJ. In San Francisco radio KPO will be the transmitting medium. According to arrangements as announced in Washington, the president will speak at 6:30, Pacific time.

The event is considered of unusual importance, both scientifically and historically, since this is the first time in history that the voice of the chief executive of the nation will be heard simultaneously in every part of the country.

A limited number of the Coolidge campaign subscription buttons are now on hand at the Glendale Republican headquarters, 220 South Brand. These unique buttons are being sold for $1 each and the entire proceeds from this source will be used for the necessary expenses in maintaining headquarters in Glendale. If you are interested in the election of Coolidge to the presidency call at Republican headquarters and secure one of these buttons.

There will be a rousing Republican rally at the Howard high school auditorium Thursday night, October 30. The names of speakers will be announced soon. Reserve the date—Thursday, October 30.

A Glendale woman declined an invitation to hear Senator Wheeler speak at the Hollywood Bowl last week, giving as her reason, that she did not care to "listen to that knocking bird."

Members of the Republican advisory campaign committee will meet Wednesday night at the Los Angeles University club, for the purpose of making final arrangements for the Coolidge-Dawes campaign in Southern California. C. C. Teague, chairman of the Southern California Coolidge campaign committee, will preside at the meeting. It is expected that the fifty members of the committee will attend.

The membership of the committee represents nine Southern California counties under jurisdiction of the Coolidge-Dawes headquarters in Los Angeles. Reports on Republican activities in the several counties will be made by members of the committee.

Arkansas-Louisiana Oil Flow Takes Slump

SHREVEPORT, La., Oct. 22.—Daily average oil production in Arkansas and Louisiana dropped 2879 barrels to 174,717 last week although an 8000 barrel gusher was brought in, in the Cotton valley, La., field. The Reserve Natural Gas company plans to build a 14-inch pipe line from Cotton valley to Shreveport at a cost of $750,000.

Postal Clerks Promise Big Hallowe'en Party

Increase In Taxes Drives Frank Booth To Poetry!

Tax bills are being received by Glendale taxpayers. And, in most instances, it is declared, payments have almost doubled. In some instances they have doubled over last year, it is said. All of which has caused Frank Booth, 111 South Kenwood, who calls himself "the village poet," to break into rhyme. He contributes the following:

OH, MY GOSH!

Have you got your taxes yet for '24 and '25?
To pay will make you slave and strive.
A bolt from the blue could hurt no less.
To place this state in so awful a mess.
There's no use for us to sit and wonder,
But get busy and work like thunder.
A petition of protest as long as your arm,
If it does no good, will do no harm.
I don't know the joker who is to blame,
But I must say it's a mighty shame.
Politicians promise this and promise that;
On our stupidity they all grow fat.
They do not care a tinker's curse,
Just keep it up from bad to worse.
At election time just watch your step,
And oppose such wasters with all your pep.
Then when you're done and can fight no longer,
You'll wither and waste and die of hunger.
Then the same old sun will rise and set,
The moon will smile and watch you sweat.
To win this battle we one and all
A taxpayers' mass meeting we must call.
To boost or not to bust
With the taxes that seem unjust.
The mail brought mine the other morn.
My spirits dropped, I felt just worn.
Our taxes jump by leaps and bounds,
To worry like some hungry hounds.
To boost for improvements is all right,
But extravagance we all must fight.
With bonds for this and bonds for that,
The aftermath troubles make things go flat.
We don't mind paying anything in reason,
But these high assessments are out of season.
Delve down in your jeans and try to smile.
The taxes will soon reduce your pile.
They tell you your taxes are only a penny higher,
But whoever invented that is a big d—— liar.
In most cases they are just double,
And this is just what is causing the bubble.
The property owner first feels the dent,
Then the poor people with increased rent.
A taxpayers' league is just the thing.
I'd be the first to join this ring.
As a city grows the richer it gets,
With increased money to pay its debts.
It's just like business—the more you buy,
The cheaper you sell is what you cry.
There's something wrong with our administration
To cause this vision of such inflation.
It's just one jam thing after another
For brother, sister, father and mother.
If Congress would introduce a bill,
What a long felt purpose it would fill,
That property owners only could vote
On improvements that a tax would tote.
There'd be less of graft and much less pain
For the common people we would gain.
Some places have a taxless city.
I'd rave to write up such a ditty.
It's possible, just like a business,
To lose or make it a great success.
So pay and look cheerful I guess we must
And keep on a-boosting until we bust.

Research Shows Congress 100 Years Ago Picked President; Will History Repeat Itself?

The much talked of possibility of the election of the next president of the United States being thrown into Congress is the basis of an interesting bit of research into American history on the part of Edmund W. Pugh, assistant secretary of the Security Trust & Savings bank, according to Vice President R. F. Kitterman of the Glendale branch of the Security.

ED. M. PUGH

Mr. Pugh points out, said Mr. Kitterman this morning, that if the election actually has to be decided by a vote of the House of Representatives, history will be repeating itself exactly 100 years later to the year.

It was in 1824 that the last president to be voted upon by Congress was chosen. In that year Andrew Jackson received 99 electoral votes, John Quincy Adams 84, William H. Crawford 41, and Henry Clay 34. As no candidate had a majority, the House proceeded to elect the president. The supporters of Henry Clay voted for Adams and the result was that Jackson was defeated. Upon being inaugurated Adams appointed Clay as secretary of state. In 1837, Richard N. Johnson was elected vice president by the Senate, he having failed to receive a majority over the other candidates in the electoral college.

Another portion of Mr. Pugh's summary shows that even so academic a matter as the separate voting for president and vice president in the electoral college grew out of a situation that threatened to develop civil war and necessitated an amendment to the constitution to prevent so serious a question coming before the electorate again. The twelfth amendment superseded the third clause of Section 1 of Article 11, which had provided that the person receiving the highest number of votes should be president while the next highest should be vice president. In 1800, the electoral vote by agreement among the electors, resulted in a tie between Thomas Jefferson and Aaron Burr for the reason that the electors did not want to offend the pride of either candidate.

Threaten Bloodshed

After a bitter contest in the House of Representatives, Jefferson was elected president on the thirty-sixth ballot, Burr becoming vice president. The feeling rose so high as to threaten bloodshed, with the result that the constitution was amended to provide for separate balloting for president and vice president in the electoral college.

The Tilden-Hayes imbroglio, arising out of the campaign of 1876, did not have its origin in the failure of one of the candidates to receive a majority when the electoral votes were first counted, but in the fact that the electoral votes from four states, which were enough to decide the election, were disputed. When the votes were counted in February, 1877, Tilden had 184 undisputed votes and Hayes 163. Conflicting returns were sent in by South Carolina, Florida, Louisiana and Oregon, a total of 22 electoral votes involved.

Before the count of the electoral votes could be completed it was necessary to determine the contests in the four states and both sides agreed to the appointment of a commission to decide the disputes. The commission was composed of five members of the House, five members of the Senate and five Associate Justices of the United States Supreme Court. All the contests were decided in favor of Hayes and on the final count, he received 185 electoral votes and Tilden 184, giving Hayes a majority of one and the presidency.

The Hayes-Tilden contest is recalled by Mr. Pugh as a reminder that a candidate may actually receive a majority of the popular vote and yet fail of election. Tilden led Hayes by a quarter of a million votes in the count of ballots cast by the people. Again in 1888, Benjamin Harrison was elected president in the electoral college, despite the fact that Grover Cleveland polled 100,000 more votes than he did in the general election.

Chamber of Commerce Will Elect Directors

The election of a board of directors, Chamber of Commerce, will be held November 10, when six directors will be elected. Eight terms expire this year. Petitions now are being prepared to be mailed out fifteen days before election. Ten days before election the ballots will be mailed. The directors retiring this year are W. E. Hewitt, A. R. Eastman, R. F. Kitterman, E. C. Pendroy, Frank L. Fox, George H. Bentley, L. H. Wilson and P. J. Hayselden.

Malicious Persons Busy In Clubhouse District

Mrs. A. H. Montgomery, president of the Tuesday Afternoon club, reported to police today that malicious parties have been upsetting the garbage can at the curb by the clubhouse, spilling garbage over the lawn. An investigation is under way.

Comment

By GIL A. COWAN

California for Coolidge. That was indicated in David Lawrence's dispatches to The Glendale Evening News two weeks ago, after he had visited San Francisco and Los Angeles.

California for Coolidge was the prediction of this writer last week, based on Republican registration in Los Angeles county, which is an overwhelming factor.

And today, Arthur Brisbane, mouthpiece of the Hearst newspapers, says that reliable information indicates that California will go for Coolidge.

However, Governor Friend W. Richardson is right in his warning that Southern Californians favoring the present president must GO TO THE POLLS AND VOTE, for the La Follette supporters are in deadly earnest in their advocacy of a change in administration, irrespective of the fact that neither their candidate nor Davis of the Democrats can be elected.

Sometimes we think of the wild west passing. But not so. Not when a Los Angeles councilman charges gambling houses are operating "wide open." Not when the district attorney of Los Angeles county is forced to arm himself against attack. And not when it takes a Texan, six weeks from border service, to single-handed rout six wild and wooly residents of Delano who fail to appreciate his tenure of office as city marshal.

Bank robberies are a daily diet of news; a pastor's son planned the robbery of a Kimberley diamond representative; mystery shootings, gun toting, banditry, bootlegging and whatnot make one believe this grand and glorious clime is no place for a tenderfoot.

Within the last week a fawn walked into a Los Angeles ice cream parlor, two bears went wild, five monkeys raised a rumpus in a canary store, and that is not all.

A half dozen cases of false arrest and malicious prosecution are being heard in the county courts; libel and slander suits are plentiful and a daily race is being staged between the clerk filing divorce decrees and the clerk issuing marriage licenses. On Monday, for instance, forty divorces were granted and 118 marriage licenses were issued.

There is no shortage of news around Los Angeles. Not with the government oil fraud case on trial in federal court, with the prospect of secret sessions because of the probability that war plans will be bared. And that is not all.

Babe Ruth, Walter Johnson, Earl McNeely, not to mention a few hundred lesser satellites of the baseball world; Floyd Johnson, Jess Willard, Strangler Lewis and others of the arena are occupying the attention of the sporting writers. Then there are the film celebrities bidding for favor, despite the columns crammed with politics.

Omigosh! Oh! Oh! Oh!

MOVIE ACTRESS TELLS OF PARIS

Hollywood Lots Nicer, Opines Carmel Myers, French Want To Know Too Much

By MARIAN MARSHALL
For Southland News Service.

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 22.—There are some things about Hollywood much better than Paris, Carmel Myers opines after visiting the "gay city" following her portrayal of one of the leading feminine roles in the film version of "Ben Hur," produced in Rome. In the matter of hotel life, she said, the police keep a close tab on every guest.

'F'rinstance, Miss Myers had to tell her age, whether she had ever contracted a matrimonial alliance, and if so, where, when and if such were of record, and if not, why not. She also had to tell from whence she came, how she happened to be in Paris and to swear that her mother accompanied her.

Holly Weenie Party

And as an afterthought she added to intrigue the gendarmes: "Accomplishments: play piano, swim, ride horseback, don't smoke, drink or chew, unless script demands."

Here in Hollywood Hallowe'en night there is going to be a Hollyweenie party staged by Colleen Moore. She is inviting her guests to come attired in ankle length skirts, with bustles, tightly compressed bodices, leg o' mutton sleeves and choke collars.

Now won't they have fun?

For traveling distances of 500 miles or more, dirigibles are favored over airplanes or railroads, according to recent tests regarding cost and time saved.

M. E. CHURCH APPOINTS PASTORS

Glendale Churchmen Back From Fresno Conference; Appointments Made

Rev. and Mrs. L. J. Millikan and Rev. Donald Castlen of the Broadway Methodist church returned to Glendale Monday after attending the Pacific conference of the Methodist Episcopal church (South) at White Temple, Methodist Episcopal church (South) at Fresno last week.

New appointments were read by Bishop H. M. Dubose. Rev. Millikan was appointed to Woodlawn Methodist church (South', in Los Angeles. Rev. M. M. Johnson will take the Glendale pastorate and Rev. Donald Castlen was reappointed to Glendale as junior pastor. Rev. Millikan has had charge of teh local pastorate for the past eighteen months. He will be in the pulpit next Sunday.

Rev. Johnson, the new pastor, has been engaged in evangelistic work for the past year, and during the previous year was director of religious education at Trinity Methodist church (South), Los Angeles.

BIBLE STUDY CLASS IS FORMED

Noted Traveler and Lecturer Will Direct Department Of Tuesday Club

Opportunity for Bible study under the direction of Miss Winifred Rouzee, traveler, Bible student and lecturer, is offered Glendale people by the Bible department of the Tuesday Afternoon club, at a meeting yesterday afternoon at the clubhouse. This department of the club will meet the first and third Tuesday afternoons of the month, and is the only unit of the club open to the public. Miss Rouzee's ability as a scholar and teacher is so widely known that this department is expected to become the largest unit of the club.

Mrs. Charles H. Temple, curator, presided at the meeting, with Mrs. Daniel Campbell, junior past president, giving the invocation, and Mrs. A. H. Montgomery, club president, the greeting. Mrs. David Black will be secretary.

Tea was served by Mrs. C. E. Norton, chairman of courtesy, and Mrs. Fred Abbey, chairman of hospitality.

Another Protest on Increase In Tax Bill

Editor, The Evening News:—I noticed in a recent issue of The Evening News some remarks by Dr. Harrower concerning the advanced tax rate in Glendale and have wondered if any person has had a greater increase than myself.

I own some property on East Colorado, and in 1923 my tax was $184.38. In June, 1923, I sold a little more than half of it, and on Saturday last received a tax bill for $342.72 for the part I own yet.

Have made no improvements of any kind since the last tax was levied.

Perhaps some have had a greater increase in taxes than I, and, if so, they have my sympathy.

Miss Lindsay's Dance Class Proves Popular

Miss Edith Lindsay is holding dancing classes every Saturday morning at the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse, 400 North Central avenue. The larger attendance, Miss Lindsay said, necessitated a division of the classes, small children and beginners meeting at 10 o'clock and the older and more advanced pupils at 11 o'clock. All branches of dancing are taught, including Russian, operatic, character and interpretive dances. Visitors are welcome.

Local W. C. T. U. enthusiasts have anticipated Mrs. Armor's address since she was announced as one of the feature speakers at the recent convention in Pasadena.

James F. McBryde, Glendale attorney, who hails from Mrs. Armor's home state, Georgia, greeted the speaker on behalf of the audience. He introduced Mrs. Eva Craven Wheeler, state president, who, in turn, introduced Mrs. Armor.

Board of Directors Refuses To Endorse Selling of Foreign Stock

A resolution was passed by the board of directors, Chamber of Commerce, at a meeting last night refusing indorsement of stock-selling campaigns, the resolution not affecting the city's established concerns. This action was taken because of outside concerns coming to Glendale, promising to build factories, getting an indorsement from the Chamber of Commerce, then selling stock and taking the money elsewhere.

W. L. Walker, scoutmaster, troop No. 3, asked that the same scout committee be appointed as served last year. The request was granted.

Associated Chambers of Commerce of the San Fernando valley asked that the board appoint the three members who are entitled to serve on the associated board. This request was laid on the table as there is possibility of Glendale having to bear additional expense of maintaining the associated body next year without proportionate returns.

Other Business

A communication was read from the Realty board thanking the Chamber of Commerce for the loan of trophies used in the exhibit at the Pasadena convention. The realtors also asked for space in the Chamber of Commerce rooms to display prizes won at the convention. On motion of Frank F. Fox, the request was granted.

The directors also decided to inspect the new Southern Pacific train that will be at the local station for public inspection Saturday from 4:30 to 5:45 p. m. This is the new de luxe train that will stop at Glendale.

Allen Davenport was appointed to act in conjunction with school and navy officials in observance of navy day, November 27.

A resolution was passed limiting the expense of forum dinners to $20. A committee consisting of D. H. Smith, George B. Karr and Howard I. Wood was appointed as a program committee for forum dinners.

Gould Warren, Ernest Tucker and J. Arthur Meyers were appointed as a radio committee and have promised that within a few weeks Glendale talent will be heard over the Earl C. Anthony broadcasting station.

Escrow Routine Told In Banking Lectures

In conjunction with the educational course offered at the American Institute of Banking, a course in the handling of escrows and subdivision trusts has been organized by the combined employes of the various banks in Glendale. The course is given at the Brand boulevard branch of the Pacific-Southwest Trust & Savings bank, under the supervision of L. E. Olson, assistant manager.

Last night, J. C. Campbell, superintendent of escrows of the Pacific-Southwest system, gave a two-hour talk, largely confined to the subject of escrow routine.

Approximately twenty-five employes of the various Glendale banks were present. The class is held on Tuesday night of each week. No tuition is charged. The classes are open to employes affiliated with local banks.

A deep sea fishing trip off Long Beach was enjoyed Monday and in the evening the Allens were entertained with a dinner at the home of Mr. Allen's sister, Mrs. E. L. Huck at Burbank. Fourteen relatives were present. A fish fry was held at Brookside Park, Pasadena, Tuesday night, with sixteen relatives and friends present. Mrs. Clara Linkogel, another sister, will entertain relatives at a dinner in her home in Los Angeles tonight. Mr. and Mrs. Allen motored here and expressed surprise at the ideal weather Southern California people are enjoying.

Short Circuit Causes Egyptian Village Fire

That time is too scarce to be wasted.
That a dollar in the bank is worth ten on the ponies.
That dances and dates are not the sum total of life.

CULTIVATE THOUGHT

One of the most difficult things in the world is to see our own times without prejudice. Especially in politics and the affairs of government, without the perspective of distance lent by time, it is almost impossible to see men and issues as they really are. It is so easy to misjudge at close range, either wilfully or carelessly, the noblest of motives. There were those who saw in the Declaration of Independence a "dodge" of some English colonists who were unwilling to pay their taxes. Every great issue has been questioned thus, every great man has been slandered, libeled and vilified.

All this is because we are unwilling to think. It is one of the most serious faults of human nature that we are so eager to accept what others say of those in the public eye. We prize very lightly our God-given right to have our own opinions and to think things out for ourselves. We do not value the faculty we possess to observe, reflect, weigh evidence, compare and judge.

It is so much easier to read than to think, to refer to the opinions of others rather than to form any of our own. The truth is, the great mass of us are mentally lazy.

But, it is better to read what others think, and accept their opinions, even though they be wrong, than to have no opinions at all. A man who has had every opportunity, in this land of free schools, to develop his intelligence recently made the remark that he would not vote for President Coolidge. When asked his reasons, he said he had none other than that Coolidge is a scoundrel. Pressed for details of the president's baseness, his reply was that any man who got to the presidential chair was in the very nature of things a rascal. The only deduction to be made is that a vote for any man is a vote to make him a rascal.

The brain is a wonderful mechanism, but it needs exercise, especially at election time.

KNOW THYSELF

One of the things that distinguishes great men from the mediocre and the small is self-knowledge. The great learn to know themselves. They believe that frankness and honesty begin at home. We little fellows may be perfectly honorable with others, but we are prone to deceive ourselves. When we would not believe others, we are open minded and credulous about what we tell ourselves. We can make ourselves believe that wastefulness and dissipation are generosity and big-heartedness; that avarice is ambition, and miserliness is frugality; that failure is the result of outside influences and not any fault of our own; that bad is good and wrong is right.

Socrates, one of the greatest philosophers who ever lived, said, many thousands of years ago, "Know thyself." If we could know ourselves thoroughly, we should be better and greater men. If we could call things by their right names when we see them in our own hearts, as we do when we see them in others, we should be much better prepared for the business of life.

Benjamin Franklin claimed that self-knowledge was fundamental in the business of life, which is the most important business in the world. In his autobiography he tells how he kept books on himself. He had a ledger, and at the top of each page he wrote one of the several virtues he regarded as fundamental to right living, as temperance, industry, honesty and the like. At the end of each day he examined himself, and if he had failed in any of these virtues he gave himself a black mark on the ledger. In this way he kept informed about his weak points and devoted himself to keeping his ledger balanced.

To know oneself, to be honest with oneself, is most difficult, but it is one of the essentials of greatness.

TO KEEP YOUNG

Someone is always volunteering information as to what we should do or not do to conserve our health, to keep young and to live long. Some years ago Sir William Osler caused a sensation when he announced that all men should be chloroformed at 60. Now another Johns Hopkins scientist makes the statement that many a man between 40 and 60 is virtually chloroforming himself, that the man over 40 who does physical work shortens his life in proportion to the amount of labor he undertakes. This is an entirely new theory, for we have always been taught that physical exercise is conducive to long life. It will be heartily welcomed by those who like to take their ease, but not so kindly received by golf enthusiasts and those who do hard work of necessity.

We should not and do not take these scientific theories very seriously, and in spite of Dr. Pearl's pronunciamento, the most of us will not change our habits. But, a Chicago physician, the city health commissioner, comes forward with a health hint that is reasonable and that everyone can follow with benefit.

Dr. Bundesen says that a good laugh relieves the brain by accelerating the flow of blood through the outer circulation. His prescription is simple: "Eliminate frowns and fears. Cultivate smiles and laughter." He goes on to say, "Few people have any idea that there exists a well defined physical necessity for laughter, and that the greater the intellectual strain and mental activity, the greater is this necessity."

The theory that laughter promotes digestion and is good for the general health is not new or unknown to us, but it is a good thing to have it emphasized by a physician.

PLANNING WORK

The man who works the hardest does not always accomplish the most. The one who is always on a treadmill cannot do his best work. A little rest and change are beneficial for everyone. System, too, will make the work lighter and more easily accomplished. Whether it is the man in the bank or the store or the ditch, or the woman in the home, systematic planning of the work will oil the machinery so it will run more smoothly. We know of people who work very hard, but who never get anywhere. They are always having bad luck. Things never turn out as they had expected. If they would take their noses from the grindstone long enough to look around and see how others are doing their work, they might get some valuable hints. If they took the time to plan their tasks, they could work with greater efficiency and better results.

To avoid seasickness, eat heartily and—stay ashore.

Money talks but is, otherwise, quite useful.

OLD RELIABLE

The Anonymous Letter

By DR. FRANK CRANE

People of common sense do not take anonymous letters seriously. An unsigned letter betrays the fact that the writer is ashamed of it. An unsigned letter is just like unbranded goods.

When a manufacturer produces something of which he is proud he brands it with a distinct trademark and gives it a name.

For this reason, nationally advertised goods carry with them the assurance of their purity. For goods which are not advertised show that the maker of them lacks assurance.

The manufacturer who advertises his product invests good money in making a brand familiar to you. His advertising is profitable so long as you continue to buy his product. But, of course, if the quality should alter for the worse you would cease to buy and his advertising becomes a dead loss.

Thus there is a reactionary effect of advertising upon the quality of material. The very fact that a man spends large sums in making a particular brand known is a guarantee that he is keeping the goods branded up to the mark. And if goods are not branded it is an evidence that there is no authority behind them, no guarantee of their genuineness.

The public is justified in putting its faith in advertised products.

No lie can keep up if it is made universal. By and by the public comes to suspect it. Just as a light at a street corner is better than a policeman, so the publicity of advertising is better than any threatened action in the courts.

Advertising shows that a man is not ashamed of his product and that he is sure that the use of it will bring him more trade.

Those who use unbranded goods are the small minority who believe in and read anonymous letters.

Horoscope

This is rather an uncertain day, but it may be made a very lucky one, according to astrology. While Jupiter is in benefic aspect, Neptune is adverse.

Under this planetary government there should be a strong revival of trade and prospects of much Christmas buying.

Manufacturers will have heavy contracts to fill and again may make war weapons of various sorts.

Neptune is in a place denoting more agitation regarding the navy. Criticism will be made of some governmental policy that arouses women and other peace advocates.

According to ancient lore Wednesdays are best for men and this particular day should be exceedingly opportune for big enterprises.

Persistently the seers prophesy that, while there will be a sensational result in the November election, there is a sign indicating that he who holds governmental reins will grasp them too firmly to let go.

This is not an auspicious day for starting on an ocean voyage. Many drownings are predicted for the next two months.

Bankers, brokers, lawyers and clergymen all come under a most promising sway making for public as well as the usual professional activities.

There is an indication that money may be easily borrowed while this configuration prevails.

Women are again subject to a rule of the stars making for strange vagaries in dress.

When they shorten their skirts, women again unconsciously prepare for the wearing of uniforms. Extremes in fashion will presage grave international troubles.

Persons whose birth date it is have the augury of a busy year in which they will meet with great success.

Children born on this day may be given to worry, because they are too conscientious, but these boys and girls are on the cusp of Libra and Scorpio and should be rarely fortunate.

THE ELOPEMENT

"Oh, mayn't I drop her just a line?"
The lover begged, and not in vain;
Her pa will not be fooled next time—
He dropped it from his aeroplane.

Today's Poem

GIVES PEACE

Too tired to pray;
But Oh! the Blessed Lord
Knows what is in my heart;
Knows what I would say.
And that I feel
His arms about me
As I quiet lie,
And so He blesses me,
And gives me rest.
And all my pain and sorrow
Steals away, and leaves me
Only thankfulness and peace.

AUTUMN

I saw old Autumn in the misty morn
Stand shadowless like silence. listening
To silence, for no lonely bird would sing
Into his hollow ear from woods forlorn,
Nor lovely hedge nor solitary thorn;
Shaving his languid locks all dewy bright,
With tangled gossamer that fell by night,
Pearling his coronet of golden corn.

Who's Who

The man who is seeking the senatorial seat from Michigan, now occupied by Senator James Couzens, is Mortimer E. Cooley, dean of the engineering school of Michigan university.

Cooley is a Democrat. He has been connected with the engineering college since 1881, when he became a member of the faculty. He was named dean in 1904 and in 1913 was made dean, also, of the college of architecture at Ann Arbor.

He is a graduate of the U. S. naval academy, class of 1878. He saw service in the navy on the cruise of the Mediterranean in 1879, and the Atlantic coast the following year. He served in the bureau of steam engineering and then as chief engineer of the U. S. S. Yosemite during the Spanish-American war.

His services have been in demand for the past 20 years to conduct and direct the appraisal of scores of public utility corporations in all parts of the country. He was born in Canandaigua, N. Y., March 28, 1855.

Making Presidents

By H. Irving King

IN 1884

It is pretty generally conceded that Arthur, from the way in which he conducted his administration, deserved the Republican nomination in 1884. But factional struggles and the overshadowing personality of James G. Blaine rendered that impossible. The Republican convention met in Chicago in June and Blaine was nominated for president on the fourth ballot. Twice before he had "come within an ace" of getting the nomination—and this time he got it. General John A. Logan of Illinois, who was supposed to represent Republican elements opposed to Blaine, was, with a view to harmony, nominated for vice president. He had fought in the Mexican war, won an enviable reputation as a commander in the Civil war, and was then United States Senator.

The Democratic convention met in Chicago in July and nominated Grover Cleveland for president He had become nationally prominent by his record as mayor of Buffalo and governor of New York; to which latter position he had been elected by a phenomenal majority. Thomas A. Hendricks prominent in several previous Democratic conventions was the nominee for vice president. A party calling itself the Anti-Monopoly party had appeared. It nominated General Benjamin F. Butler of Massachusetts for president. Later A. M. West of Mississippi was made his running mate. The same ticket was nominated by the National party, which was the Greenback party under another name. The prohibitionists split into two factions, one nominating Samuel C. Pomeroy of Kansas and John A. Conant of Connecticut for president and vice president; and the other nominating John P. St. John of Kansas and William Daniel of Maryland. The latter were the only prohibition candidates heard from at election. St. John had been a soldier in the Civil war and Republican governor of Kansas.

Blaine made a "whirlwind campaign" of the west; the presidency seemed absolutely within his grasp, when, upon his way home to Maine, he stopped in New York where occurred the fatal incident of the Burchard address in which the venerable doctor of divinity assured the Republican candidate that he and his fellow Protestant divines "refused to ally themselves with the party of Rum, Romanism and Rebellion"; to which Blaine, although his wife and daughter were devout Catholics, listened without word of reproof.

That settled the chances of James G. Blaine of ever becoming president. He was slain politically in the house of his friends by an alliteration. At election of the popular vote Cleveland received 4,874,986; Blaine 4,851,981; Butler 175,369; John 150,363. Of electoral votes Cleveland had 219 and Blaine 182.

I've worked .....years
I've earned $.....
I've saved $.....

How many will be obliged to put a big zero after the words "I've saved $.....?"

Years slip by swiftly, and the figure written in front of the word "years" increases rapidly.

People should remember that the amount saved is more important than the amount earned.

factors in securing prohibition, she said. She further stated that prohibition had come about by the majority rule and not by the will of a small group. "The way to save America is to vote for dry men and dry measures," she said. THEATRES' POLL BOTH GOOD, BAD

Orpheum Houses Indicate Democrats Flocking to La Follette Banner

By MARKET OBSERVER
For Southland News Service.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 22.—Encouragement and discouragement for Coolidge managers in California have been carried over the market wires the past twenty-four hours.

Taking the bad news first, the Orpheum circuit poll reported late yesterday showed in the twelve states where theatres are operated 115,963 favor Coolidge, 48,405 Davis and 74,947 La Follette. In California Coolidge got 16,721 votes to 16,179 for La Follette with Davis scoring 2311.

Electoral Vote Danger

Not only does this show danger of a split electoral vote, but indicates Democrats are flocking to La Follette's standard as a result of McAdoo's defeat for the nomination.

But it must be remembered that the seven Orpheum theatres are located in cities. Five are in San Francisco, Oakland, Fresno and Sacramento, where opponents of the president have been active. The poll does not take in the greater part of Southern California, which is overwhelmingly Republican.

Effect On Market

An E. F. Hutton correspondent in New York says there are early indications of a "bear rout" at the close of the campaign and a break in the market for the better may be expected following President Coolidge's speech in Washington next Thursday, which will be broadcast over the country.

Traders also are intrigued by the probability of a sharp rally following election.

Legion Notes

By Special Correspondence

Invalidation of all legislation extending financial aid to California veterans of the world war and a tying up of the $5,000,000 left in the soldiers' farm and home loan fund is threatened unless the voters of the state defeat the proposed constitutional amendment No. 5 on the November ballot because of a "joker" in the proposition, state officials of the American Legion and Superintendent of Public Instruction Will C. Wood announced.

Calling upon all ex-service men and women of the state to go to work and defeat the proposition which, through an inadvertence, failed to include the constitutional provision authorizing veterans' aid, State Commander Nathan F. Coombs has telegraphed to each of the 300 American Legion posts in California pointing out the discovery of the "joker" in the proposition.

"Unless this measure is defeated the 4500 men and women veterans receiving financial aid under the Veterans' Farm and Home Loan Act voted by the people in 1922 will be cut off and the act invalidated," State Adjutant James K. Fisk said.

Both the Veterans' Farm and Home Purchase Act and the Veterans' Educational Aid Act, under which thousands of veterans have been given assistance, would be invalidated by the passage of the new amendment, according to Superintendent Wood.

"Proposition 5 on the ballot was drawn by the school authorities to provide for the temporary transfer of the surplus county funds from one account to another during the "dry season" extending from July 1 to the first Monday in December," Wood said. "But an error was made in the act and it should be defeated."

"If proposition 5 carries all veterans' welfare legislation will perhaps be rendered unconstitutional."

Legion officials are planning a whirlwind drive to defeat the measure with the "bug" in it.

Improvement in the hospitals for California veterans and a campaign to increase the hospital facilities in this state has been begun by the American Legion officers headed by State Commander Nathan F. Coombs.

Commander Coombs and State Adjutant James K. Fisk have just returned to San Francisco from a visit to Southern California and an inspection tour of the soldiers' homes and hospitals there.

Efforts will be made to have the government add more beds to the hospitals for the care of world war veterans and the California Legion men will co-operate with the National American Legion in its program of rehabilitation which is to be carried out under the direction of Watson B. Miller of Washington. Miller is now visiting California on an inspection tour and is conferring with local Legionnaires on the situation.

Disabled veterans of the world war hospitalized in U. S. Veterans' Bureau hospitals will no longer be referred to as "inmates," according to an order received by State Adjutant James K. Fisk from Director Frank T. Hines at Washington. American Legion Posts complained about the term and hereafter disabled ex-service men in government hospitals will be referred to as "patients."

As a part of their national program to "get out the vote," California officers of the American Legion have asked the various posts of the state to campaign during the next two weeks before the November election to urge citizens in their respective communities to vote at the presidential election.

LIBEL SUIT ON TRIAL

SANTA ANA, Oct. 22.—Paul Vissman, former Glendale newspaper man and city employe, is the center of a libel suit being tried here in which Police Officer George L. Annin is suing Editor Rodge G. Smith of Fullerton for damages. Smith, it was testified, threatened that he would "make it hot" for the police department if he didn't get "the news." Alleged derogatory stories and editorial comment followed in which Annin was accused of fleeing from a fight.

OUR FIRST DRESS SALE OF THE SEASON

Values to $35.00

$19.75

There's a reason for this sale. We made the most fortunate purchase of dresses in years, and consider them the best values we have ever offered.

Sale Starts Thursday

The best dress value we have found this season; the materials are wonderful—soft, silky faille, satin faced crepe, bengalines and crepe satin, in a splendid assortment of models, in black, navy, brown and thrush. This is our first dress sale for this season and there was a reason—good, up-to-the-minute dresses at a popular price, and of dependable materials, have not been available in merchandise up to our standard. We were particularly fortunate in finding this assortment of new mid-season models and at a price concession that seemed almost impossible. The manufacturer's price on many of these dresses was $24.50 and $27.50 wholesale.

Permanent roads are a good investment —not an expense

The High Cost of Postponing Permanent Highway Building

Poor motor roads stifle industry and agriculture, waste huge sums annually in high maintenance costs, and greatly increase gasoline, tire and repair bills.

There is not a state, not a county, not a community, that isn't paying a heavy price for having too few permanent roads.

There are still many sections of the country—even whole states—that are trying to operate twentieth century traffic over nineteenth century roads.

This is costing millions of dollars every year, and will keep on costing millions until we have well developed permanent highway systems everywhere.

Even what we often call the more progressive communities are far behind the demands of modern highway traffic with its 16,000,000 motor vehicles.

From the Atlantic to the Pacific, and from Canada to Mexico, we need more Concrete roads—the roads for twentieth century traffic.

Your highway officials want to be of the greatest possible service to you. Get behind them with ways and means that will provide more Concrete roads and streets. Such an investment will pay you big dividends year after year.

WHEAT JUMP MAY PROVE BIG EVIL

Increase In Acreage Pointed To As Possible Harm To Future Crops

By J. C. ROYLE
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—Merchants and manufacturers would do well to make hay while the sun shines for the farmers are planting wheat while the price is up and it is a question whether the growers will gain enough from the crop next year to keep buying power at its present level.

The American Farm Bureau federation fixes the winter wheat increase at 10 percent and with normal yields this may result in glutting the market next year. Wheat acreage has receded from 75,000,000 acres in 1919 to 53,000,000. Federation officials do not believe the latter figure can be increased with profit to the farmer.

Wheat Acreage Increases

The tendency to increase wheat acreage is not confined to the United States. The gain in acreage in response to high prices is already noticeable in Argentina and Australia, according to government figures. Wheat is planted in those countries from June to August and this was late enough to reflect the stimulation of the price advance, which got well under way in July. Seedings have increased over one million acres as compared with last year. Australia acreage being 10,000,000, as against 9,461,000 in 1913 and that of Argentina 17,732,000 as compared with 17,215,000.

The Sears-Roebuck Agricultural foundation, which surveys the farm country from the angle of possible buying power, predicts the price of wheat will be lower next year.

North Atlantic States

In the north Atlantic states, the planting of winter wheat has been two weeks later than normal as a result of too much rain or drought. In the corn belts, wherever it has been the practice to seed in wheat the present corn fields, delay has been caused by slow ripening of corn.

These factors would have a tendency to cut wheat acreage, but in the big winter wheat states like Kansas, Missouri and Nebraska, seeding conditions have been extraordinarily heavy.

The tendency towards increasing acreage when the price is up is giving considerable worry to thoughtful farmers, merchants and financiers.

Pioneer Period Over

The pioneering period to American agriculture is over. In that period, acording to Ralph P. Merritt, head of the Sun Maid Raisin Growers' association of Fresno, California, the farmer made money, not out of the products of his farm, but from the increase in the value of his land. That program, Merritt says, must cease if business in general is not to suffer.

"There can be no doubt," he said, "that in certain lines the farmers of this country are today producing more in volume than good business judgment dictates. This is notably true of the normal yield of wheat; yet who shall say which farmer shall go out of business and which continue? We must find some solution that does not point to misery for the farm and the elimination of hundreds of thousands of farm homes."

Parent-Teachers' Plan Conference at School

Mrs. O. H. Spradling, president of Glendale federation, Parent-Teacher association, outlined the conference of the First district, to be held tomorrow from 10 to 4 o'clock at the Whittier High school. A delegation of Glendale Parent-Teacher association officers will be in attendance. Opening the morning session will be a presidents' council, followed by parliamentary drill. Later there will be invocation and roundtables on membership, legislation, education and home.

After the luncheon music will be given by the Whittier State school band; a speaker from the county tuberculosis association; address by Dr. Dexter of Whittier college; address by Dr. Merriam Van Waters on "Prevention of Delinquency." Luncheon will be served in the high school cafeteria. Mrs. H. V. Henry, chairman of the Mutual Benefit Reading circle of Glendale, will have charge of the roundtable on reading circle work.

Motorcycles may not be taken into Austria without special permission by the government.

Bible Study to Feature Tuesday Club Program

Outline of Study

"Through the Bible a Book at a Time" is the subject announced by Miss Rouzee for study. Preliminary to taking up the book of Genesis, Miss Rouzee gave a "birdseye view" of the book. She said the Bible was the "phenomenon of literature" and "a book of sixty-six chapters, intimately and vitally related."

During her talk she emphasized that the old testament included thirty-nine books and the new twenty-seven. The books represent thirty-six authors and sixteen centuries, beginning with Moses, 1500 B. C., and ending with St. John, 100 A. D. Events of eons and eons B. C. and prophecies of eons and eons A. D. are recorded.

In analyzing the old testament she said the first twelve books were historical volumes, the next five poetical books, the next five books of major prophecies, and the twelve next minor prophecies. She referred to the first five books dealing with history, the fourteen Pauline epistles, seven general epistles, and book of prophecy.

Old Testament

Outlining briefly the old testament, Miss Rouzee called attention to the deep thought of men evident through the various books. She recalled Adam, Noah, Isaac, Jacob and Joseph, the great leaders, judges, kings and prophets. The entire new testament radiates the personality of Christ, she said.

In preparation for the next meeting of the department, Miss Rouzee has asked those attending her lectures to read the book of Genesis, "The Book of Beginnings." Her next talk will be on "The Creation Chapters of Genesis."

'Polygog Dance' Will Be Featured at Hall

The "Polygog Dance" is to be one of the features of the Wednesday and Friday night dances, opening tonight at the Hahn auditorium at 109-A North Brand boulevard. F. D. Odell, who has had success as host of dances in other cities, is in Glendale, and announced he will offer Glendale dance lovers feature entertainments two evenings each week.

Among the features planned are souvenir, spot and popularity dances. Silver trophies will be given. New lighting effects have been installed. A big attraction will be the music, furnished by "McVea's Howdy Band," a colored orchestra popular in the Southland. "With something doing every minute, it looks as if Old Man Gloom will be left outside," says Mr. Odell.

Tries Kellogg's Bran—restores health after 12 years of intense suffering

Mr. Firth writes that he suffered for 12 years from constipation and his friend for 10 years—a total of 22 years' suffering permanently relieved by Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled.

Gentlemen:
For 12 years I had been troubled with indigestion caused mostly by constipation. Until about a year ago, I would suffer from 4 to 20 weeks at a time.

I happened to see your Krumbled Bran in a store, purchased a package and got almost immediate relief. I am still eating the Krumbled Bran every day.

The most wonderful results obtained with your Krumbled Bran I will now relate. A gentleman who has been taking medicine for about 10 years for constipation could not find anything to give him relief. Three weeks ago I advised him to try Krumbled Bran, as I had told him what wonderful results I had gotten from it. The gentleman in question purchased a box, and he told me that for the first time in ten years he is regular without taking medicine.

Yours for success,
William Firth, Jr., 56 Volan St., Merchantville, N. J.

Eaten regularly, Kellogg's Bran is guaranteed to relieve the most chronic case of constipation, or your grocer returns your money. Eat two tablespoonfuls daily—in chronic cases, with every meal. The flavor is delicious. Try it in the recipes on every package. Made in Battle Creek. Sold by all grocers.

SECOND BOUT WITH MARS IS STAGED

Old Mother Earth Couldn't 'Tune In' In August—But Just Wait!

By EDNA MARSHALL
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—Now that it's all over and the world has settled down and almost forgotten that on or about August 24 it was all agog expecting to carry on a little neighborly chat with Mars, up steps the Aerial League of America and begins to stir the people again.

No, we did not talk with Mars and that "series of dots and dashes in no known code" that came in over so many radio sets was not a message sent expressly to America by some enterprising scientist on Mars.

But we're going to—that is, if Mars is inhabited—and that is where the Aerial league comes in. For it's been carrying on a check up which indicates that it is more likely that there are people on the sister planet than the most sanguine theorists had hoped.

Letters by the thousands have been pouring in, in answer to the league's invitation to all the world to help it learn "the truth about Mars."

Professors Get Busy

Professor David Todd, emeritus professor of astronomy and navigation and director of observatory at Amherst college, and Henry Woodhouse, president of the Aerial League of America, have been working together to ascertain exactly whether a direct connection was noticed between the two planets at the time of closest opposition, the period between June 24 and September 4 last.

And not only have they determined that Mars is not as cold as it was reported to be and that quite possibly it is warm enough to sustain human life, but they have learned Mars played a considerable part in the radio transmission and reception of that period of closest opposition.

It was Mars that kept millions of radio fans from hearing as well on their sets on that memorial August 24 when she came nearer to earth than she will be again in thousands of years. It was Mars that kept them from tuning in on the distant places ordinarily "picked up" and it was Mars that made sending and receiving radio messages so difficult for many ships at sea.

Extra Static Taken

Mars did it all by creating extra "static" and the static was due to the mysterious flashes seen on the surface of Mars at its closest opposition.

Professor Todd and Mr. Woodhouse explain it this way: Mars' flashes were aurora lights caused by an electro-magnetic discharge which, as they struck the planet, caused the lights, and simultaneously created instant static and radical disturbances. The flashes occurred on Mars at a time which exactly coincided with the period of greatest difficulty in sending and receiving radio messages on August 24. This indicates that since static created on Mars can be felt as far away as the earth then was, radio signals could be sent from one planet to the other at closest opposition if there were someone to send them.

Glendale Delegation To Brotherhood Meet

Glendale will send a large delegation to the mass meeting of church brotherhood members of Los Angeles county, Monday night at the First Methodist church in Los Angeles. It is planned to form an organization to be known as the United Church Brotherhood of Los Angeles county.

Included in the list of speakers are Dr. John Willis Baer and Judge Benjamin F. Bledsoe. Dr. Frank E. McCann of Monrovia, presided at the meeting when plans for the gathering were made. Hugo Kirchhofer will lead the song service.

Tickets for admission will be distributed in all Glendale churches Sunday, as well in all churches throughout the county, and reserved seats for the meeting will be held until 7:30 o'clock Monday night.

Frank Weller, assemblyman from this district, is president of the local organization, and secretary of the county organization.

Doris Barnard Returns From San Diego Trip

Miss Doris Barnard of 1108 North Central avenue returned Monday night from San Diego, where she spent the week-end visiting Miss Mae McWilliams of the Murphy Comedians. Miss Barnard played the part of the Sing Song Chinese girl in the matinee and evening show while there. Members of the Murphy troupe asked to be remembered to Glendale friends.

Dr. Margaret York to Entertain at Dinner

Dr. Margaret York of 1005 North Central avenue, president of the Southern California Women's Medical association, will entertain at dinner Saturday night members of the executive board and constitutional committee.

Cleveland Firms Show Increase In Business

CLEVELAND, Oct. 22.—Answers to a questionnaire sent out by Cleveland manufacturers and wholesalers show 70 per cent of the firms had increased sales in September as compared with August while 30 per cent reported a decrease. Collections were in the same ratio. Sixty per cent of the concerns report their business for the year so far has been less than for the corresponding months of 1923, but they expect good business in November and December.

Most accessory men here said while car and truck sales will be smaller than in 1923 the average sales unit will be larger. They expect 3,500,000 cars to be sold, bringing $2,800,000,000, or an average of $800 per car.

Tuesday Club Plans to Vote 100 Per Cent

Executives of the Tuesday Afternoon club plan to have the club represented 100 per cent in the November election. Mrs. A. H. Montgomery, club president, has appointed Miss Ida D. Myers, curator of the American citizenship and legislation department; Mrs. C. C. Cooper, chairman of community service, and Mrs. Frank C. Weller, chairman of civics, to arrange the club membership according to precincts. These three women are to choose captains, who are to meet at 11:30 o'clock next Tuesday morning, at the clubhouse.

Heart and Home — Health and Happiness

Diet And Health

By LULU HUNT PETERS, M. D.

ANSWERS TO MOTHERS

CHILDREN DISEASES

"Dear Doctor:—I have a healthy little daughter of 10, who has never had the 'children' diseases. I believe it is due to cleanliness of hands and nose and mouth. I think it is an old-fashioned theory that children must have such diseases. Am I right?—Mrs. C."

You are right, Mrs. C. It is pernicious. Children have been exposed to measles, etcetera, under the idea that they must have them, and the sooner they have them the better. The fact is that children may escape these infections, and if they do get them, the older they are the more resistance they have. Your idea of cleanliness of the hands, nose and mouth is splendid. Having a child on a correct hygienic regime in regard to diet, rest, sleep, mental happiness, is also important to build up resistance.

EYES VERSUS DIET

Mrs. A. C.: You must see an oculist about your little girl's eyes. You say they itch and burn, the balls become red and the eyelids become swollen. There is a disease known as zerophthalmia, which is caused by a diet deficient in vitamins, especially the fat soluble A vitamins, the ones that are also necessary for growth. The vitamin A is highest in butter, cream, cod liver oil, egg yolks and spinach. The next highest foods in vitamin A are whole wheat, orange peel oil, kidney, liver, tomatoes (raw, canned or dried), string beans, carrots, dandelion greens (fresh), lettuce, peas, hubbard squash, sweet potatoes, cheese, eggs. How about the child's diet? Are you following the instructions in the column?

Every child should have the following foundation diet every day:

Protective Foods—Three glasses of milk, at least; one cupful of vegetables (green leaf vegetables especially, part raw); one cupful of fruit, part fresh.

Energy Foods—Cereals, including whole grain breads; fats in the form of butter, cream, egg yolks and nuts.

PLEASE REPEAT

"Dear Friend:—I have been following your wonderful advice since your articles started, and I have been greatly benefited by them, especially where my children are concerned. I only wish you had your column running a few years ago and my oldest child would be stronger. At any rate, my 'year old' is reaping the benefit of your advice and knowledge, so it always makes me feel the other one would have had a better chance if I had had the same assistance. Please repeat lots of your health hints, because, with all caution, I suppose I am only one of the many who mislay articles.—Mrs. L. B."

Yes, I do repeat, again and again, Mrs. B. Naturally, I have to. I exhaust the things I can talk on in a newspaper column after a certain period, and have to begin all over again. Then there are always new readers and the old readers learn by repetition. Then, of course, I cannot go into a subject in a short paper extensively, so I try to bring out other points that I didn't cover the first time. Thank you for letting me know how much help you have received. Posies are sweeter when you can smell 'em.

COLIC

Mrs. J.: Colic in the baby most often means indigestion. Too much or too little food or improper foods. Irregular feeding and constipation are frequent causes. Tight abdominal binders are another cause. For the attack, give a little quite hot water, and give a warm enema. Massage the abdomen gently, bend the baby's knees up on the abdomen; apply hot cloths.

Tomorrow Answers to Correspondents

My Dear Followers:—When sending for material which we offer you please remember to enclose a stamped envelope bearing your full name and address. The pamphlet on reducing and gaining is the only one for which you must enclose four cents in stamps extra. Address your letters to me in care of this paper. Make them as brief as possible, not over 200 words, and type or write them legibly with ink. Please sign your name as evidence of good faith—we will not use it in any way. Remember it is impossible for me to diagnose for you or to answer you personally. I appreciate very much the beautiful letters you send me and regret it is impossible to give you individual advice. The questions you ask will be answered in the column as soon as possible; if they are of general interest. Don't forget the s. a. s. e. if you expect me to send you the information I have offered.

Players Making Hit In 'Country Cousin' Play

Dobinson Players are making a hit in "The Country Cousin." Nearly every human has a "country cousin," but this Dobinsons Players' "cousin" is different.

Miss Gertrude Kellar, an able actress, interprets the title role with finesse. Rosamonde Joyzelle, especially engaged for this production, as Mrs. Howitt is fine. Richard Ehlers, as Sam Wilson, keeps his audiences captivated. Mary Isabelle Alpaugh, as Eleanor Howitt, is delightfully naive, and William H. Stephens as Archie Gore, is splendid. Musical program is rendered at each performance under the direction of Mrs. Clyde Lott.

Steamed Fruit Pudding: (Contributed by "A Friend.") Mix together three and one-half cups of flour, one cup of granulated sugar, one cup of seedless raisins, one-fourth cup of dried currants, one level teaspoon of baking soda, one level teaspoon of baking powder, a good-sized piece of butter, a pinch of salt and a half teaspoon each of ground cinnamon and nutmeg; wet this mixture with two cups of sweet milk, then add one square of bitter chocolate melted. Turn all into greased, empty baking powder cans, put on tight-fitting covers, and stand the cans in a large saucepan which contains boiling water. Let the water boil around the cans for three hours. Serve hot with any hard sauce. It will be necessary to weight down the cans in water.

Escalloped Ham and Potatoes: Buy one pound of ham in one slice. Cut it into six pieces and stick one whole clove in each piece. Soak one quart of pared, sliced, uncooked potatoes in water for an hour, then drain, dry well, and place one-half their portion in the bottom of a buttered baking dish. Lay the ham pieces over this layer, and finish with a top layer of the potatoes. Make a sauce by melting one tablespoon of butter and rubbing into it two tablespoons of flour, then wetting with one pint of sweet milk and seasoning with two small chopped onions and a pinch each of salt and pepper. Turn this sauce over all, and bake in a moderate oven for about two hours. Serve hot.

Chicken en Casserole: Truss a roasting chicken as for roasting, but do not stuff it. Put it into a large casserole on a sauce made as follows: melt three tablespoons of butter in a small saucepan, then add to it two sliced raw onions and two sliced raw carrots; season with a small bit of bay leaf, a little salt and pepper, then add two cups of bouillon of beef stock (clear canned soup may be used). After cooking for several minutes, turn this into a hot casserole, lay the chicken upon it, cover closely, and slip the dish into a hot oven to roast for about 15 minutes, after which reduce the oven temperature and let continue to cook for two hours. Remove from oven, add small pared potatoes, put on cover again and return to oven to bake for an hour longer. (During the entire cooking period, the chicken should be frequently basted with the liquor in the casserole). Just before serving remove chicken from casserole, thicken the gravy in the dish by adding a tablespoon or two of flour-and-water paste, let reheat and serve.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Kirkman, in care of the "Housekeeping" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question. Hear Mrs. White

Mrs. John Robert White, Jr., prominent in Republican activities in Southern California, was speaker yesterday at the meeting of Grand View Parent-Teacher association at the school. She gave an interesting outline of measures to be considered at the November election.

Mrs. Guy Berryman, chairman of program, arranged the program. In addition to Mrs. White's talk, there were: piano solo, "Sonatino" by Willam Sawkins; vocal solos, "Bubbles," "Train Song" by Virginia Frank, and "Japanese Parasol" by Cheeko Sakaguchi; instrumental number, kindergarten orchestra. Report was made by Mrs. Lant, thrift chairman, who urged parents to interest the children in the new savings account machine recently installed in the school. Mrs. George Fitch, publicity chairman, and Mrs. Hulett patriotic chairman are making plans for the school's participation in the Armistic Day parade. A reception for the teachers is to be held at 8 o'clock tonight at the school. It will be a Halloween party.

Joint Meeting

The aid society and woman's foreign missionary society of the Glendale Presbyterian church held a joint monthly meeting at the church yesterday. The missionary society met at 10:30 o'clock and the business session was presided over by Mrs. A. D. Smith, president. The program opened with the devotional led by Mrs. Daniel Campbell. Mrs. Fannie M. Retts sang a solo. A very interesting talk was given by Mrs. David Black on her vacation trip to Alsaka. "India" was the subject of a talk given by Miss Woods. Luncheon was served at 12:30 o'clock and a short business session of the aid society was held with Mrs. J. A. Newton, first vice-president in charge. The meeting was dismissed early in order that the members might attend the funeral of Mrs. Charles R. Snider held in the afternoon.

Cerritos P.-T. A.

plans for a "Fathers' Night" November 14 , were announced yesterday afternoon at the meeting of Cerritos Parent-Teacher association at the school. Mrs. A. L. Kent, president, directed the meeting. The program of the meeting was featured by addresses by Baroness Otilly de Ropp on "The Children of Russia and Present Conditions in Russia;" and by Mrs. S. P. Martin of Redondo Beach, chairman of child labor and legislation for the First District, who spoke on the child labor amendment. Pupils of the sixth grade gave choral numbers, and sixth grade mothers served as hostesses.

Pleasing vocal solos were given by Mrs. E. B. Moore, accompanied by Mrs. Garber.

Benefit Success

A benefit affair was given last night by the Glendale branch of the Women's Benefit association of Maccabees in the Legion hall. Reports state that it was a most successful event. There were musical numbers by the Heinz sisters, Miss Anderson and Mr. Moe. Later five-hundred was played, Mrs. Anderson and Mr. Porter winning first prizes. Music for dancing was furnished by the Kelly Shrine club orchestra. Mrs. Addison, commander, is greatly gratified over the success the organization is enjoying. Much of the credit for this success is due Mrs. Menard and Mrs. Silver of Los Angeles, organizers. A lovely cake, baked by Mrs. William Leash, and bearing the letters W. B. A. M., was won by James Stuart.

Hold Food Sale

Mothers of children attending Columbus school are to have an opportunity to demonstrate their art as cooks on Friday, when the Parent-Teacher association is to hold a cooked food sale at the Lyons dry goods store at 407 West Doran estreet. Mrs. C. H. Bird, president, and other officers of the Parent-Teacher association, are to be in charge, and they ask all school patrons to furnish food for the sale. The food is to be sent to the store Friday morning, ready for the afternoon sale. In addition to food used, books and phonograph records will also be sold.

P. E. O. Hostess

Members of Chapter CJ, P. E. O., meeting yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. A. C. Shively, 451 West Myrtle street, began the study of South America, with Mrs. A. A. Barton presenting a splendid paper on the geography and history of that country. Miss Martha Cox, program chairman, arranged the program. A pleasing feature was piano numbers by Mrs. J. S. Hayward, who was assisting hostess. In the absence of the president, Mrs. J. L. Onstodd. Mrs. E. D. Yard, first vice president, presided. Roll call was answered with Hallowe'en quotations.

Guild to Meet

St. Mark's Guild women are to spend all day tomorrow at the church. They will meet at 10 o'clock in the morning. The time before lunch will be devoted to sewing for the November bazaar. Mrs. W. J. Farbar will have charge of a short business meeting.

DANCE, WEDNESDAY, SATURDAY. HAHN'S HALL.—ADVERTISEMENT.

Dine on Venison

Unique in all its appointments was the dinner party given last night by Mrs. T. C. Young and Mrs. A. L. Baird at the Young home, 400 North Kenwood street. The piece de resistance was venison, the deer having been brought home by Dr. Young and Mr. Baird while on a hunting trip to Lake Almanor, Shasta county. A miniature camp with the pitched tent, campfire, camp chairs, pine trees, moss, with miniature deer lurking in the back ground, formed the centerpiece for the table. The meal was served camp style. Cards formed a pleasant pastime for the evening. The guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Harry Reeves, Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Hatz, Mr. and Mrs. Max Lynn Green, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hall, Taylor Baird, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Worley, Mr. and Mrs. Harry McBain, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Nelson and Mr. and Mrs. H. Reeve Darling.

Plans For Year

Plans for the year's work were made at the J. O. C. Class meeting held last night in the Pacific Avenue Methodist church parsonage, Mrs. Ida Artis, president of the class directing the meeting. Details for the bazaar which will be held November 14 were perfected. The bazaar will be held at the church and a supper served cafeteria style will be held as a feature. The cooked food sale will be in charge of Mrs. Eleanor Robinson. Plans for the raising of money for both foreign and home missionary work were made. Mrs. Margaret Stevenson, teacher of the class, was given a surprise by the class members who presented her with a birthday cake with the candles, the presentation being made by Mrs. Artis. A Hallowe'en party will be held on October 31 for class members, their husbands and other guests. Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting.

Hold Masquerade

A real carnival scene will be presented Staurday night in the Masonic Temple, where members and friends of Omar Shrine, White Shrine of Jerusalem, are to have a masked Hallowe'en party. Mrs. Warren Roberts, worthy high priestess, announces that elaborate plans are being made for decorations, favors and entertainment. Mrs. Libbie Cutting is general chairman. Assisting her are Evelyn G. Pierce, program; Frederick Wenzel, music; Minnie Kemp, Mary Freeman, refreshments; Maude Smith, tickets; W. W. Cannady, Edward Emerick, Sarah Leland, Mae Warrick, floor.

Successful Dance

The dancing party given last night at the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse by the ways and means committee, was a great success and enjoyed by fifty couples. Mrs. C. G. Putnam, curator of the Maids and Young Matrons, and Mesdames J. J. Campbell, Donald Baxter, C. M. Conkling, C. C. Carroll and Fred Brigham of the same department, were hostesses. A great attraction was the dancing instruction given by Mr. and Mrs. Jules Swart of the Pearl Keller school. Later in the evening the Swarts gave an artistic exhibition dance.

Birthday Dinner

A most enjoyable dinner party was given Saturday night at the E. D. York home, 1005 North Central avenue, celebrating the birthday of Willard D. York. In addition to members of the family, there were present Mr. and Mrs. William Cooper Foy of Inglewood; Mr. and Mrs. Agnew S. Field of Hollywood; Gordon R. Mills of Los Angeles. After dinner Mah Jongg was played. A group of Los Angeles friends were dinner guests at the York home last night, the affair celebrating the birthday of Everett M. York.

Informal Affair

Mrs. Charles E. Hutchinson will open her home at 246 North Orange street Thursday afternoon to members of the First Congregational church, the affair honoring the new members. All women of Glendale interested in the Congregational church are invited to be present. Mrs. Hutchinson will be assisted in entertaining by Mesdames A. H. Chapman, M. E. Lauderdale and Eugene Gordon.

See How Quickly You Can Banish
Gray Hair
This Clean, Colorless Liquid Will Quickly Restore the Former Color

Amazing results are reported by thousands of people who have seen their gray hair return to its original color under the touch of the remarkable preparation known as Kolor-Bak. Many report results in a week.

In this clean, colorless liquid we have a true substitute for the natural pigmentation, which the hair has lost because of age, illness, shock, scalp disease or some other cause. Remarkable as it may seem, Kolor-Bak not only banishes the grayness, but restores the actual former color to the hair, no matter what it was—black, brown, red, auburn. And the color is uniform throughout—the hair does not appear streaked, faded or dyed.

Kolor-Bak is not sticky or mussy. It is just as easy to use as clear water. It also cleanses the head of dandruff, scurf or scale, keeps the scalp in good condition, gives the hair a beautiful, silky appearance and prevents it from becoming brittle and falling out.

As long as your hair retains its youthful appearance, you get credit for being young—and to be young is always an advantage both social and business life. Bo men and women have a reliab friend in Kolor-Bak.

No need to furnish samples your hair to get the right prepara tion. Kolor-Bak is for all hair, n matter what its original color, s you don't have to do any "match ing" or experimenting. Just tr Kolor-Bak and see how quickly th lost color returns. Kolor-Bak i sold on money-back guarantee.

The Wrath To Come

e smiled imperturbably. His ilse of tenderness had passed. knew now why she had come, the knowledge gave him an ntage. She had no idea that had betrayed herself.

told you that I had lost my eit," he said, "and I am not g to take you literally. There o hardship, you see, in exging Berlin for Monte Carlo ebruary."

There are other places on the era," she reminded him. "We a villa at Cannes and quite mber of friends there. Let know the worst, Grant. What t tomorrow?"

Tomorrow I am entirely at service," he replied, "except the matter of some tennis in afternoon. We must lunch ther."

he sighed contentedly.

You aren't going to be abso-ly horrid, then?"

I couldn't be for long," he as-d her. "All the same, I am id that I'm running a terri-risk."

gain the smile—and with it little stab at his heart. He a man with instincts of faith-ess.

I may be running that risk elf," she whispered.

resently Grant and his com-ion rose and moved to the oms, crowded now with a nge medley of people, men women of every nationality, speaking every tongue, differ-racially but brought into a ious affinity—the women by great dressmakers of the rld, the men by the unwritten s of Saville Row. The corner which they found themselves s an auspicious one and they od for a moment or two look-on. They themselves were objects of some attention. rtrude, after her last season di-ed between London and Paris, d become recognized as a uty of almost European fame. r companion—Mr. Grant P. ttery was the name upon his iting card—had also acquain-nces in most of the capitals of world. In a way he was a od foil to the woman by whose e he stood—a tall, good-look-young American, a little slim-r than the usual type, looking mewhat older than his thirty rs, perhaps because of a cer-n travelled air, a quiet assur-ce born of his brief but suc-ssful diplomatic career in three the great capitals.

"My adopted country people are back again in force," Gertrude remarked.

"They interest me more than any other people here," Grant confessed. "It is as though the nation had changed its type."

"Explain yourself, please," she invited.

"I must speak frankly if I do," he warned her.

"As frankly as you please. I hold no brief for my husband's country people. I like some of them and hate others."

"Well, then," he continued, "it seems to me that the women are no longer blowsy and florid and over-dressed, the men no longer push their way and swagger. Somehow or other the women have learnt how to dress and the men have acquired manners. They are not in the least like the travelling Germans of say thirty years ago—just before the war."

"They are feeling their way," she remarked cynically.

He looked down at her with the air of one who has listened to wise words. In reality, it was he who was feeling his way.

"I am not so sure," he reflected. "I wonder sometimes whether the whole nation has not changed, whether the war did not purge them of their boastfulness and conceit, whether this present generation has not acquired a different and a less offensive outlook."

"Do you really believe that?" she asked.

"I am simply speculating," he answered. "To begin with there is a great change in your aristocracy. Young Prince Frederick for instance. Every one says that he has modelled himself exactly upon what the present King Edward VIII of England was like when he was a lad of twenty. All the older statesmen tell us that he was the most popular young man in the civilized world, modest, democratic, charming. These are not Teutonic qualities, you know, but your Prince Frederick is certainly developing them."

"I wonder," she murmured.

"Tell me, what is your own attitude towards your husband's country people?" he went on, almost bluntly. "Do you like them or don't you? And, more important still, do you believe in them or don't you?"

She looked around her a little nervously. The Rooms were thronged with people but the corner in which they were standing was still almost isolated.

"My friend," she confided, "I am a simple woman and not a psychologist. I live amongst the German people. I do not dislike them as I am sure I should have disliked the Germans of thirty years ago, but I do not understand them. You must remember that of the Germans who made their country the most hated in the world before the war of nineteen-fourteen, I naturally knew nothing. I wasn't born when the Peace of Versailles was signed. The Germans of those days is, so far as I am concerned, as extinct as the dodo!"

"If he is not extinct," Grant said, "he is at least not in the limelight."

"He has perhaps learnt to wear the sheep's clothing," she suggested. "You will not be able to induce me to say one word either for or against these people whom I confess that I do not understand. If you would really like to know all about them," she went on, "shall we ask the one man who ought to know? Have you ever met Prince Lutrecht?"

"Never," Grant replied. "I know of him, of course, and I have heard Lord Yeovil speak of him several times lately. They meet most days, of course, at Nice."

DOBINSON PLAYERS

"The Country Cousin" was presented at a 2:30 o'clock matinee this afternoon at the Tuesday Afternoon club theatre and will be offered again tonight, Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights at 8:15 o'clock, announces Miss Eva Daniels, business manager of the Dobinson Players, with a 2:30 o'clock Saturday matinee.

Miss Gertrude Kellar gave a splendid performance this afternoon in the role of the old maid country cousin. Miss Rosamonde Joyzelle, as Mrs. Howitt, portrays her role splendidly. John Vosburgh as George Tewksberry Reynolds III. causes a burst of laughter at each entrance. Eleanor Howitt, the little country girl, looking for life and finding it not so good, is interpreted with fineness by Mary Isabelle Alpaugh, and Richard Ehlers as Sam Wilson, who intends to be at least a senator of these United States, is so well done that even the audience is with him. William S. Stephens, George C. Pearce, Thyra Ruhland, Carroll Nye, Arthur Lovejoy, Gertrude Rothe and Harry Glazier all fill their roles well.

THE GATEWAY

Charlie Murray, who has been getting a lot of fun and creating a lot of fun for movie fans, has an ambition out to out-Shakespeare Bill Shakespeare. Yep, them's his ambition. Anyway, that's the substance of a letter he wrote to New York from the Hunt Stromberg studio in Los Angeles, where he worked on "The Fire Patrol," a Chadwick Pictures Corporation special in which he shares the comedy atmosphere with such notable funmakers as Billy Franey, Hank Mann and Heinie Conklin. Murray, who has been before the picture-loving public since the good old Keystone Comedy days, will retire in a couple of years—and he's going to write tragedies for the stage, which, he says, will make the "Hamlets," "Othellos" and Macbeths" of Shakespeare look like Gus Hill comedies. But then Charlie will have an ambition! "The Fire Patrol" will be shown at the Gateway theatre on Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

MURPHY'S COMEDIANS

Murphy's Comedians will present the "Girl From Home" again tonight at their tent theatre in Burbank, the management announces, and this popular play will be offered again Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights. The comedians are located at the corner of San Fernando Road and Cedar street.

"The Girl From Home" is one of those genial, mellow comedies that makes the audience scream with laughter one moment, and tugs at its heartstrings the next. It is a roar from start to finish, with places that cause spectators to catch their breath.

Murphy's Comedians have proved to Glendale theatre-goers that they know how to put over real entertainment, in the long list of successes to their credit during their six months in this locality, they feel, and are confident hundreds of local people will follow them to their new location.

THE T. D. & L.

THE GLENDALE

"Welcome Stranger" concludes today at the Glendale Theatre. Pearl Keller will present her annual "Children's Society Vaudeville" at this theatre Thursday night, one performance only, at 8:15 o'clock, announces Manager William A. Howe.

Uncle Wiggily

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE COLD BEE

"What do you think will happen you today, Uncle Wiggily?" asked Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy one morning, as the rabbit gentleman pwinkled his twink nose, which is almost the same as twinkling his pink nose—only it's backward.

"I'm sure I can't tell," answered Mr. Longears, as he put on his tall silk hat and took his red, white and blue striped rheumatism crutch down off the clock shelf, where it was learning to tell time.

"Well, I hope you have a jolly adventure," said Nurse Jane, kindly like.

"Thank you," replied the bunny, and then he hopped over the fields and through the woods until, all of a sudden, near an old, last year's spider web, he heard a buzzing voice crying:

"Oh, dear! I guess this is the end of me!"

"That's what I've thought many a time when the Fox or Bob Cat have been after me," said Uncle Wiggily. "But, whoever you are, don't feel sad. Perhaps I can help you. Where are you and who are you?"

"I am a cold honey bee," was the answer, "and I am caught in this old spider web. The spider isn't here, so I am in no danger of being eaten. But I am so cold and stiff, and so tangled up by my wings and legs being caught in the web, that I can't get out."

"I'll help you," kindly offered Uncle Wiggily. "But I should think being a bee, you could buzz your wings and wiggle your legs and so get out by yourself. Not that I mind helping you though."

"That is very kind of you," buzzed the bee. "But you see the trouble is I am cold, and stiff. There was a frost last night. We bees love warm weather, you know. And when we are cold we get stiff. We can't buzz our wings or wiggle our legs. We can't even sting, though I'd never sting you, Uncle Wiggily."

"Thank you," said the rabbit. "I'll help you out of the spider web, and then I'll put you in my snug little pocket until you get warm. Then I'll let you fly back to your hive."

"Thank you," buzzed the bee.

The bunny gentleman gently broke the strands of web from the bee's wings and legs and set the cold insect free. Then Uncle Wiggily put the bee down inside his snug little pocket to get warm.

Soon after this, while Uncle Wiggily was hopping through the woods, on his way to the five and ten cent store to buy Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy ten pounds of molasses candy, all of a sudden the Bushy Bear jumped out from behind a sassafras bush, and caught hold of the rabbit gentleman.

"Ha! Ha!" growled the Bear. "Now I've caught you!"

"Oh, dear! So you have!" sighed Uncle Wiggily. "Oh, dear!"

"Hello, there, Mr. Bear! You let Uncle Wiggily go!" buzzed the bee, poking its head out of the bunny's pocket. "Let Uncle Wiggily go or I'll sting you on your soft and tender nose!"

"Ha! Ha!" laughed the Bear. "Who's afraid of you? I'm not! I was hiding in the woods when Uncle Wiggily took you from the web. I heard you say you were so cold you couldn't sting! So you can't sting me and I'm not afraid of you! Pooh! Pooh! Tut! Tut! Boo!"

"Oh, ho!" buzzed the bee. "Perhaps I couldn't sting you when I was cold and stiff. But I am good and warm, now, from having nestled in Uncle Wiggily's pocket. And I'm going to sting you! Pooh! Pooh! Tut! Tut! Boo! I'm going to sting you!"

With that the bee stung the bad Bushy Bear on the end of his soft and tender nose. Oh, what a sting!

"Gurra! Goople!" howled the Bear, and letting go of Uncle Wiggily, away off in the woods ran the bad chap.

"Thank you, Bee," said the bunny. Then he took the buzzing insect to its hive and the bee gave the bunny some honey for Nurse Jane so Mr. Longears didn't need to buy any candy. And if the fire shovel doesn't get so hot sliding down the coal bin that it has to sit down on a cake of ice cream to cool, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the policeman's bat.

BIG TURNOUT FOR GAME PREDICTED

Hundreds of Fans Expected To Crowd Park Sunday On 'Earl McNeely Day'

One of the biggest turnouts ever witnessed at a baseball game in Glendale is expected next Sunday when the Glendale White Sox, with Earl McNeely, star of the world's series; Ken Penner, pitching ace of Vernon; Ray French, National and American league stellar shortstop; "Chicken" Hawks, big time star; Ping Bodie, the "Frisco Fencebuster"; Dick Bonelly, hurler for the Kansas City Blues, and other diamond stars in the line-up, meets the Hollywood Merchants, with an all-professional lineup.

The occasion will be "Earl McNeely" day when baseball fans of Southern California will unite to pay tribute to the man whose single in the twelfth inning of the final game of the world's series drove in the winning run that beat the New York Giants and won the game, series and pennant for Washington.

McNeely will play two games with the White Sox, but only one in Glendale. He will be in the lineup Saturday when the White Sox meet the St. Louis Colored Giants at Goodyear park, Los Angeles.

Frank Kerwin, owner of the White Sox, who succeeded in inducing McNeely to come to Glendale for the big game, reports box tickets are going fast. The Kiwanis club has taken an entire box of twenty seats, and the Exchange club has reserved another box. It is expected other service clubs and organizations in the city will engage boxes for the big battle.

McNeely will drive from his home in Sacramento to Southern California on Friday. Friday night he will appear at the Hollywood Legion stadium and be introduced from the ring. Saturday he will play against the St. Louis Giants, Sunday against the Hollywood Merchants and Monday he will appear in the All-Star lineup at the Babe Ruth Benefit game in Los Angeles staged by the Knights of Columbus.

Glendale Carriers to Play Pasadena Team

Arrangements have been completed for the all-day picnic Saturday at Brookside park, Pasadena, when a baseball game between Glendale letter carriers and Pasadena carriers will be played as an afternoon feature. Glendale was winner in the Twilight league, taking twelve out of fourteen games, and Pasadena was winner in a league there. This will be the opening game in a series between these two teams and Los Angeles, also a league winner.

The lendale lineup for Saturday is: Whitley, c; Richards, p; Shoemaker, 1b; Selver, 2b; Weitzel, 3b; Bielefelt, lf; Love, rf; Hooker, cf; Meissel, ss; Woods, manager, and Selver, captain.

Former Yankees' Owner May Succeed Johnson

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—It was reported today that some American league club owners were planning to advance the name of Colonel T. L. Huston as a candidate for the presidency of the American league, in the event that Ban Johnson might be forced to resign, owing to his unpopularity in certain quarters. Johnson lost the support of several friends among the magnates when he declined to attend the recent world series.

FOR GAME'S SAKE

By LAWRENCE PERRY
Special Correspondent of The Evening News. Copyright, 1924.

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—While "Red" Grange was making touchdowns almost at will against the Michigan team at Urbana on Saturday, the writer, no less amazed than most of the those within the vast amphitheatre, was inclined to regard him as the greatest running back who ever wore cleats.

But after studying the game in the cold light of retrospect his tendency is to defer forming a definite opinion until the swift and elusive Grange has been tested against such a pair of ends as say Iowa will present when the two teams meet.

It may seem rather ungracious to a great athlete to say so, but the fact remains that the Wolverines did not have a real end on the field last Saturday. The chief flaws of the men who played the wings for the Ann Arbor outfit were a tendency to be drawn into miss the runner and they were the simplest targets for opposing tackles and backs that the writer has seen in a long time.

To poor end play thus may not a few of Grange's long runs be ascribed. On the other hand, it must be borne in mind that on at least two occasions Grange weaved his way through the closely knit pack of almost the entire Michigan eleven. The writer is quite willing to say that he never saw a better back, ends or no ends. But it will require more than one game against a better defensive team before Grange can be crowned king of kings.

Other backs this writer has seen have been as fleet of foot as Grange and others have been amazingly elusive. But the greatness of the Illinois star, the thing that causes him to stand among the elect of all time, lies in his ability to encompass the layout of the field ahead of him and to adapt his movements accordingly. Or, when in the welter of tackles, to pick openings right and left as though he were being piloted by some unseen power.

One very interesting thing about Grange's runs was that in all his dashes, extremely few would-be tacklers even laid hands on him. Had Grange not played for Illinois Michigan probably would have made a very even thing out of it. For against Illinois, the Wolverines were better off offensively than defensively. The Woverine's showing probably did not reflect the potential merits of the eleven. Grange's 80 yard run for a touchdown the first crack out of the box, followed by repeated dashes for scores in the first period would have bewildered and befuddled any outfit.

Michigan will have a chance to show what real merits it possesses against strong future opponents. As for Illinois, scouts for future opponents of the Urbana eleven shook their heads over Grange, but they did not regard Illinois as a team that could not be scored against by a hard shifty attack.

The clever punting team, given real ends and other downfield workers, could make a lot of the method which Zuppke has coached his men to employ in the matter of kicks. They must not try to catch, evidently must avoid all punted balls as though they were poisoned. Michigan's first touchdown came as a result of this doubtful strategy.

Trolley Men Run Over Opponents on Alleys

The Pacific Electric bowlers smothered the J. M. Turners last night in a major league match at the Recreation alleys, the trolley men taking all three games by wide margins. Evans of the losers was high score man with 247 in the opening game. With the exception of one man on the railroad crew, the average was 200 or better. The score:

TAD JONES FOLLOWS RODIN METHOD IN MODELING YALE

Bulldog Coach Says He Doesn't Know If He Has Lump of Mud or Immortal Gent Like Sculptor's 'Thinker'

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service, Sports Editor.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 22.—Rodin probably didn't know whether he had a masterpiece or a gob of mud when he began to model the immortal gentleman who was destined to spend the rest of his existence in meditation.

Tad Jones, head coach of the Yale football team is pleased to admit that he and Rodin have something in common. Tad is giving an earnest try to the matter of modeling a Yale team after the manner of its immediate predecessor, but the clay is still a trifle damp, the lines are blurred and somewhat in need of a shave and the general contour is reminiscent of unfinished worsted.

Frankly Tad Jones doesn't know whether he has another champ or another chump. He has had both in his varied career at Dear Old Yale university and it is getting so that he has difficulty in recognizing the difference at this early stage of the proceedings.

"I'll tell you all about it; it's this way," quoth he. "We are at the great divide. From this point on we either win or lose. You see how it is."

It's This Way

The writer nodded sagely. He saw. What Mr. Jones meant was that Yale would have a good season if it won or vice versa, mostly versa. But he needs must know more in spite of the fact that a squad of under-coaches sat at the same table and listened intently to his every syllable.

Was Yale as far advanced now as it was at a corresponding period last year? No, it seemed not. Why? Well, you see, Yale had several inexperienced youths, namely Sturhahn and Wortham, guards, and Root, a tackle, who had yet to learn what it was that took all of the fun out of fundamentals. But in spite of the fact that he talked down everything, Jones gave the impression that he was more or less enamored of his young men, taken in general. The writer got this idea when in trying to establish a point, he asked if it were not true that Dartmouth outplayed Yale on Saturday last.

Jones Likes Yale

"No, it isn't true," replied Jones. "We marched fifty yards for our first touchdown which may give you an idea of how our attack was working; for the defense Dartmouth twice had the ball on the 20-yard line with a first down and couldn't gain. The second time a forward pass bounded off one man into another's arms and that let them out."

Yes, Jones rather likes the Yale team. Behind the scenes he expects to see the Harvard and Princeton teams in the big games. I suggested that the big three were evenly matched.

"I don't know, are they?" he replied, and dropped the subject, if any.

Something Up Sleeve

Behind the scenes, it is also whispered that Yale has something that has yet to see the light of day. It might be mentioned that you either whisper here or become vastly unpopular. The word in this case is that Yale is up to its old trick of holding out speed boys until the late minutes of play. Jones does not have the backfield punch of 1923, but it seems that he plans to use Bench, Cottle, Allen and Pond to soften up the opposition and then step in with Lindley and McGunigle.

Lindley, a baseball man, ran amuck against Dartmouth and is said to have looked ever bit as good as Oberlander, the Green ace. McGunigle didn't show. He stuck a careless elbow into a passing bus as his car was leaving the bowl last year and is still regretting the incident exceedingly. But McGunigle is about ready and the good word is that he is the finest ball runner on the Yale squad.

Ask Tad, He Knows

The team, however, is underdone in other ways, according to the whispering chorus. Pond is below his 1923 form, so is Eckhart, varsity guard. Cottle, it seems, is not exactly a stayer, although quite a gifted young man as long as he lasts. Bench is a quarterback by force of circumstance but more acceptable than Bunnell because the latter lacks big game experience. The ends and one tackle position are well taken care of by the veterans, Luman, Bingham and Joss. Lovejoy is the best center in the east.

And the rest? They may turn out to be good or gosh-awful.

Ask Tad. He knows.

FIGHT RESULTS

At Los Angeles—Tony Fuente, sensational 16-year-old heavyweight, who has been startling local sporting circles with his ability to floor all opponents in short order, won a close decision over Floyd Johnson of Iowa alst night.

At Denver—Bud Hamilton, Denver, decisioned Abe Mishkind, Salt Lake, three rounds. Jack Matlock, Los Angeles, decisioned Pat Keener, Tulsa, three rounds.

ARMY AND NAVY TEAMS JUST SO

Both Uncle Sam's Gridironers Need Tuning Up, Soldiers Better Of Two

By JOHN B. FOSTER
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News. Copyright, 1924

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—The last of October finds the Army football team a little stronger than it was last year and the Navy not quite so efficient. Were the great service classic to be played tomorrow, the Army in all probability would win. How the teams will compare by late November is a question only time can solve.

The Navy-Princeton game last year was the first indication anyone had of a possible scoring weakness on the part of the Navy. The game with Princeton this year, played Saturday, again raises doubt as to the Navy's ability to run roughshod over the Army.

The Navy has shown queer condition this year. In the game against Marquette, the middies faded out of the picture in the last quarter. Again in the game against Princeton, the Navy, after a strong display of line breaking effort, began to give way and at the end of the fourth period was made up of substitutes. The regulars had drropped under fire and were out. It was not a matter of saving the men. They were not in good condition.

Just why this should be is a mystery. Perhaps the weather was too hot at Annapolis to permit the coaches bringing the team along as desired. Football can not be played early at Annapolis with the vim that it is, for instance, at Hanover, N. H.

Navy Backs Good

Of the Navy backs, Shapley looks best just now. Flippen is a persistent runner and Wellings a hard hitting back for short gains. The line stood up well until Lentz had to retire. After that the Navy forwards didn't look so well.

Army plays much the same game it played last year except that it is a little better. Much has been said about the wonderful aid Wilson, the former Penn State back, would bring to the Army. He will, if he can get away to run, but it must not be forgotten that the Army team itself showed how thoroughly Wilson could be socered by a clever defense. And Knut Rockne's light Notre Dame eleven emphasized the point Saturday.

The Army line plays better than it did last year and the team is well handled at quarter.

Floyd Johnson Loses To Fuente at Vernon

Floyd Johnson, who once battled Jess Willard, Fred Fulton, Jack McAuliffe, Jr., and other one-time topnotchers in the heavy class, gave way last night to a practically unknown fighter at Vernon, when Tony Fuente took the second, third and fourth rounds of the feature bout. The first round was even. Johnson fought bravely to hold up his end of the argument, but appeared to be outclassed.

Sailor Murratt won over Benny Palmer in the opening fracas. Johnny Fiske gave Jack Comby a beating. Hank Gatten put Sailor Joe Foster to sleep in less than a round and a half. Johnny Webber lost the decision to Bobby Bridges in an uninteresting scrap. Johnny Lamar won from Mike De Pinto after four rounds of slugging. Sailor Billy Vincent won over Bert Tribby.

Wilson School Wins First Soccer Game, 2-0

The first interscholastic soccer game was played Tuesday at Glendale Intermediate school, by the midget teams of the two Intermediate schools. Wilson's team, of which Charles Heustis is captain won, 2-0. The lineups were as follows: Wilson—Gordon Lingo, Harold Caballero, Charles Heustis, Daniel Gribben, Dudley Wilcox, Milan Plasterer, Saunders, John Olson, Rex Morthland, Chilton Allison. Glendale—Ray Morrison, Teddy Salyer, Billy Brewer, James Keogh, Frank Howe, Vernon Nuckolls, Robert Angelica, Stacey, George Merrick, Thompson, Magnus, J. B. Rule and Hayward. Amer Petty and A. T. Bennett refereed.

RINGSIDE GOSSIP

By FAIR PLAY
Special Correspondent of The Evening News. Copyright, 1924

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—"Irish Johnny" Curtin is getting ready for the exit signal. He was a grand little fighter, was Johnny and it seems too bad that he is evidently slated for the has been class.

Some of Curtin's friends wish he would stop before the memory of his many glorious achievements in the ring are obliterated by a series of those disasters that are sure to come to the once classy boy who keeps on and on in the hope that he will win in the fight with Father Time.

Most of Curtin's admirers refuse to admit that Johnny was getting into the aged class until he made that pitiful effort against Jackie Gordon. Outwardly in that go, he seemed to be the Johnny of old. He moved about aggressively, but nonetheless he failed to make a showing against a boy who would not have gone a round with him in the old days.

Finally when Curtin was floored by a left hand jab, the works were in and Johnny showed where the years have brought him.

Billy Kennedy of New Orleans looks like a boy destined to add lustre to a city that has produced Joe Mandot, Pete Herman, Frankie Russell and other good little boys. Kennedy can hit and is clever. He should leave New Orleans on a trip to places where decisions are permitted.

CONFIRMS CONVICTION

RICHMOND, Va., Oct. 22.—The court of appeals today confirmed the conviction and sentence imposed upon Captain B. W. Latham, skipper of the schooner Pesa Quid, and two of his men, for selling 1350 cases of whisky in American waters off the Virginia capes.

DIET DISSOLVES

BERLIN, Oct. 22.—The German diet was dissolved this afternoon as a natural consequence of the dissolution of the Reichstag yesterday.

SEASON COUPONS TO LEAGUE GAMES

Ticket Good for All Contests In Which Local School Participates Only $2

Announcement has been made by Parl L. Turrill, chairman of the athletic committee of Glendale Union high school that season tickets good for admittance to all league games in football, basketball and baseball are being placed on sale. These tickets sell at $2 each and are acceptable at all out-of-town games in which the local team participates, as well as games at home.

The tickets are offered at a saving of approximately $7.50 on league athletic contests. A ticket-selling campaign will be staged by members of the various athletic teams and members of the salesmanship class of the school. They are also on sale at the offices of the Broadway high school and the Harvard high school, and at Roberts & Echols drug store.

Glendale is out to win the Class A championship of Southern California this year, and make a strenuous effort to land the Class B title also. Money received from the sale of tickets will go to the student body athletic fund.

PAJAMARINO PARTY

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 22.—The annual pajamarino party at the University of California, southern branch, will be held Friday night of this week, festivities commencing at 7 o'clock. Co-eds will be in attendance, but not in pajamas, while the boys build a monster bon-fire from old boxes—a clean-up day for merchants of the community who have packing cases to spare.

Pennant Winners Planning to Come Here for Training

The Seattle Indians, winners of the Pacific Coast league pennant, are planning on training next spring in Glendale, at the White Sox ball park, according to word received by Frank Kerwin, owner of the White Sox, from Wade Killifer, Seattle pilot. Killifer and his crew wound up their training here last spring, although the major portion of the spring workout was taken elsewhere. Killifer then expressed his desire to put in the entire training season here.

Billiard Champ Leads Kieckhofer In Match

CHICAGO, Oct. 22.—Willie Hoppe, champion balkline billiardist, turning to the three-cushion game, swept Augie Kieckhofer off his feet in the first two blocks of their 400-point match. Hoppe led today, 100 to 57, winning the afternoon round, 50 to 22, and the evening round, 50 to 25. Hoppe had a high run of eight, and required eighty-seven innings to make his 100 points. Kieckhofer's high run was five.

FACE DAMAGE SUIT

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 22.—Captain William Hagenbaugh, division head of the Los Angeles harbor police, today, with two of his officers, was made defendant in a $20,350 damage suit filed by William Henkelman, who alleges he was held in jail for sixty-two days without just cause, under the Busick injunction against criminal syndicalism, as practiced by the I. W. W.

Machinery for winding and equipment for dyeing textiles in many mills of India were made in the United States.

Only the good ones come through

Such popularity must be deserved

WHETHER it's golf or cigarettes or anything else, popularity is no stroke of luck. No champion ever held his laurels except by making good. No cigarette ever held popular favor except by deserving it.

The popularity of Chesterfields is an outstanding example. For months now they have been drawing over 1000 smokers a day away from other cigarettes.

Surely this is proof of their quality and good taste.

NEVER AGAIN!

Most ads read "biggest bargains," "never again such an opportunity," etc., but when you ACTUALLY

CUT THE PRICE EXACTLY IN HALF

THEN YOU ARE REALLY OFFERING A BARGAIN. And this one IS one of the "NEVER AGAIN" sort. We have offered, and sold, some wonderful buys during the past three weeks, but this one WINS ALL THE MARBLES:

A BIG 65-FT. CORNER CUT FROM $4000 TO ONLY $2000, AND TERMS AT THAT. ONLY $500 CASH, WITH 2 YEARS TO PAY THE BALANCE.

That would be a real buy situated most any place around Glendale, but this is the REAL "NOB HILL." Located on that sightly slope, just beyond the city's show place, BRAND'S CASTLE, and other beautiful homes and estates. When you compare with prices of other properties you will naturally wonder why we make such SACRIFICE PRICES. Just one answer:

OWNER NEEDS—AND MUST HAVE—THE MONEY—MUST HAVE IT NOW!!

And, instead of offering two or three at sacrifices for cash, we made SURE of it by making TERMS on a number. The fortunate buyer of this 65-ft. corner takes a PROFIT the minute the contract is handed to him. But—we reiterate—"NEVER AGAIN." ACT NOW! Take advantage of YOUR Opportunity.

Go Out This Afternoon

If too late, TOMORROW Afternoon; drive out Brand Blvd. to Kenneth Road, west to Grand View, north to Mountain Ave., then west about 3 blocks to JACKSON'S OFFICE. BE SURE you go to right office; big sign, $2750 lots CUT to ONLY $1500. Salesman there every afternoon from 2 to 5.

SAY, FOLKS!

I don't want you to see this house unless you want a good buy. 5-room bungalow and garage; lot 52x200, High School district. Don't wait too long; only $4900; will exchange. This is way below actual value. See Mrs. Redmond, with

DELICATESSEN TO OPEN SATURDAY

Rabin Brothers Bring Expert Manager From Germany For New Store

Rabin Brothers will have as manager of their new delicatessen store, opening next Saturday, in the "Ye Market Place," Los Feliz Road, Julius Burkhardt, formerly connected with the Wilhelmstrasse in Germany.

Mr. Burkhardt, who has had years of experience in managing some of the finest kitchens in this country and abroad, arrived on the Berengaria from Hamburg, October 10, and will assume active charge of this department.

Rabin Brothers operate eight retail delicatessen stores in Los Angeles and have long anticipated coming to Glendale, but "Ye Market Place" was the first location found that would conform with plans they had in mind.

Sending 6500 miles for a manager is only a small part of the expense Rabin Bros. have incurred in order to bring to Glendale the finest delicatessen on the Pacific coast.

Special Fixtures

Regular stock delicatessen fixtures would not do. At a heavy expense and after days of deliberation with Mr. Britt of the National Show Case and Fixture Co. beautiful curved cases forming a 60-foot semi-circle were decided upon. Bent or curved glass could only be obtained in San Francisco but this added cost was spent to give Glendale something distinctive and original.

The volume of business done in the various Rabin stores have made them one of the largest direct importers of food delicacies on the coast. It is interesting to note the different countries from which their products are obtained:

Stock From Over World

France—Roquefort cheese, cordials, mushrooms, French peas, H'ors de ouvres.

Italy—Antipasto, olive oil, salami, romamo cheese, liquers.

Spain—Spanish olives, salt anchovies.

Switzerland—Swiss cheese, sap sego, brugere.

Norway, Sweden and Denmark—Anchovies, spiced fiske, Lingon berries, marrow fat peas, mackerel, Suisbrod, Rullepolse.

England and India—Marmalades, relishes, condiments.

China and Japan—So yo, sauce, rice cakes, Hung Yun Su.

Another interesting item is the fact that Rabin Brothers import from Spain, Spanish olives in 2000 pound casks. One of these large casks will be on display Saturday and one of the leading motion picture stars will direct sales.

BLAST TOLL MOUNTS TO THIRTEEN

Four Deaths Added to List Of Casualties Aboard Cruiser Trenton

NORFOLK, Va., Oct. 22.—One more victim of the powder explosion aboard the United States cruiser Trenton died this afternoon, bringing the total dead to thirteen. The latest victim was John E. Uzzolino of Newark, N. J. He died of burns. Still other deaths are feared among those severely burned.

Three deaths at the naval hospital at Portsmouth occurred this morning.

Those who died this morning were Arthur J. McCormick, Charleston, Mass., Franklin B. Jeffery of Lynn, Mass., and George Luker of Newark, N. J.

The death list increased when George J. Gaffney, seamen of New York City, died today.

TELLS OPPOSITION TO CIVIC CENTER

C. W. Ingledue States Stand Against Proposition at Realtors' Meeting

Declaring the proposed Civic Center will be inadequate to care for the city's needs; will not house more than half the city offices and would not care for future expansion, C. W. Ingledue, 109 South Glendale avenue opposed the project at a luncheon of the Glendale realty board at noon today. L. H. Wilson, realtor, 1034 South San Fernando road, also was opposed to the present site.

J. M. Rhoades had first explained the Civic Center project and asked the support of the board in voting the bonds. O. M. Newby followed, going into details of the proposition, saying money was needed to put over the proposition and asked the financial support of the realtors.

At this point Mr. Ingledue opposed the project, saying the city requires over 80,000 square feet of floor space; that the proposed Civic Center would only take care of half of this, splitting the administration forces into two sections in different parts of the city.

Urges Opposition

Mr. Ingledue urged an investigation of the practicability of the proposed site, requirements for city offices, cost and other items, ending with an appeal for the rejection of the matter at the November election.

L. H. Wilson supported Mr. Ingledue, expressing the opinion a Civic Center should be accessible to banks, department stores and all business houses and not compel a visitor to run to the outskirts of town to transact city business.

W. L. Truitt, in support of the Civic Center, gave some figures which he said showed the value of the property, figuring on the basis of so many lots at a certain valuation, to be $640,000, making the building investment only $8000. This, he said, was a good buy, and urged the voting of the bonds. He said school bonds will follow the Civic Center bonds and he was also in favor of them. He stated the valuation of the city had increased over sixteen million dollars, giving an increased bonding capacity. No official action was taken by the board in the matter.

Family Is Helped

W. L. Twining told of a destitute family, the man an American Legion member. The couple have an 11-year old boy and the father is unable to work steadily on account of World War disability, he said. The hat was passed and $55.15 raised. Several individuals also agreed to purchase groceries and household goods for the family.

Frank Kerwin, manager of the Glendale White Sox, asked for support of the ball team, especially the opening game next Sunday, when Earl McNeely, the star Washington player will appear. S. S. Gilhuly, city councilman, also urged support of the ball team.

The remainder of the meeting was devoted to a reading of proposed changes in the constitution and by-laws. The report was submitted by Dr. Jessie Russell. The changes will come up for adoption or rejection at the meeting next Wednesday.

CAMPAIGN PLANS FOR CIVIC CENTER

Mass Meetings Will Feature Future Activities to Stimulate Interest

Civic Center campaign committee met yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock at headquarters, 102 East Harvard street, and made plans for holding mass meetings.

H. M. Butts, chairman of the publicity committee, told of plans to stimulate interest in the campaign. O. M. Newby was appointed chairman of the special committee. He will select his own assistants.

A mass meeting will be held this afternoon to form an organization.

Those present were: D. H. Smith, chairman; H. M. Butts, vice-chairman; Mrs. C. E. Hutchinson, secretary; O. M. Newby, treasurer; J. E. Barnev C. Berger, W. J. Clendenin, A. T. Cowan, Alex Mitchell, Mrs. A. H. Montgomery, Leslie Pierce, R. Streit, George Orgibet and R. Ernest Tucker.

Another meeting of the campaign committee will be held tomorrow afternoon at headquarters.

Los Angeles

By Southland News Service.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 22.—Charging her husband with attempting to secrete proceedings from an estate of $150,000 he is alleged to have inherited, Mrs. Retha D. Fuller filed suit for alimony today against Fred A. Fuller in connection with a pending suit for divorce.

For calling Frederick H. Maulick, an automobile salesman, a "cook" during an argument over the sale of a car, Larry A. Cotton was forced to pay him $1 today. Maulick had sued for $10,000 on a slander charge.

Confronted with $500 worth of plunder stolen from an oil service station which was said to have been found in their rooms, Clinton C. Elliott and William E. Cockran are reported to have confessed to the burglary of the place today. The police state that in all $1500 in cash, checks and gasoline scrip was stolen from the station and most of the checks and scrip were recovered.

OPEN DRESS SALE AT WEBB'S STORE

Unusual Offerings In Much Wanted Goods to Start Tomorrow Morning

An event that will prove extremely interesting to the women of Glendale and surrounding communities will be a great dress sale starting at Webb's, tomorrow on the second floor.

This is the first dress sale of the season staged by this well known Glendale store. By making a mammoth purchase the buyer secured wonderful values up to $35 including over a hundred individual styles in the much wanted materials of soft, silky crepe faille, satin faced crepe, crepe satin and others, in a splendid assortment of models in black, navy, brown and thrush. Webb's ready-to-wear department considers itself particularly fortunate in making this offering of new mid-season styles at the seemingly impossible price of $19.75. Glendale women can judge the value of these dresses themselves by seeing the attractive window display. Every dress is said to be up-to-the-minute in mode and charmingly fashioned of dependable material.

income, in order to make tax returns under lower taxation brackets. The question involved in California is as to whether the community property law holds that the wife's interest in property is "vested" or "expectant." If the property right is "expectant" the wife does not come into possession of her half of the husband's property until his death. In all states but California the courts have ruled that the wife's property rights is "vested."

BREAK A CHEST COLD WITH HEAT OF RED PEPPERS

Ease your tight, aching chest. Stop the pain. Break up the congestion. Feel a bad cold loosen up in just a short time.

"Red Pepper Rub" is the cold remedy that brings quickest relief. It cannot hurt you and it certainly seems to end the tightness and drive the congestion and soreness right out.

Nothing has such concentrated, penetrating heat as red peppers, and when heat penetrates right down into colds, congestion, aching muscles and sore, stiff joints relief comes at once.

The moment you apply Red Pepper Rub you feel the tingling heat. In three minutes the congested spot is warmed through and through. When you are suffering from a cold, rheumatism, backache, stiff neck or sore muscles, just get a jar of Rowles Red Pepper Rub, made from red peppers, at any drug store. You will have the quickest relief known. Always say "Rowles."—Advertisement.

Glendale Woman Wins Rebekah Lodge Honor

Mrs. Bertie Smith, one of the oldest members of Carnation Rebekah lodge, was given the degree of chivalry at Fresno last week. The degree of chivalry is conferred for meritorious service and only one member a year from a lodge is entitled to this honor. Mrs. Edna Scovern made the trip to Fresno with Mrs. Smith. From Fresno they went to Gilroy where they visited the Rebekah Orphanage and the home for the aged at Saratoga.

A report of the trip was given at the meeting of Carnation Rebekah lodge in I. O. O. F. hall last night. Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Scovern said they met a noted physician who stated the home for the aged at Saratoga was the finest institution of its kind in the world. Mrs. Viola Ertel, vice grand, presided at the meeting.

Two new members, Mrs. Ora Bissenger and Mrs. Light Green were admitted to membership by transfer card. Plans for the Halowe'en dance October 28 at I. O. O. F. hall were made. Music will be furnished by Kelly's Shrine orchestra. The public is invited. On November 4 a social and card party will be given for Rebekahs, Odd Fellows and their friends. A small fee will be charged.
